service and the local link of the unprecedented broadcast will be Station WEEI.

Starting at 10:30 on Christmas Eve and lasting for an hour and a half, until the chimes of midnight usher in the most holy observance of the Christian era, a program of vocal and instrumental music befitting the occasion will go winging through the ether to fire-side and ship-deck, the homes of the great and of the humble througnout the length and breadth of the nation.

So all New England may join in the vast service on Christmas Eve the Boston Evening American will issue on Saturday, Dec. 24, a booklet containing the official program and words and music for the carols to be sung.

President Coolidge and members of his family gathered in the White House are expected to join their voices in the great Boston Evening American Christmas Eve carol concert.

AN ORGAN OVERTURE.

Everyone in the territory served by the Boston Evening American may participate in the program, joining their voices with the voices of millions of others in a song service that will echo throughout the country.

Directing the observance and calling together the country-wide chorus will be Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, noted clergyman whose sermons are heard every Sunday by millions of radio listeners. Dr. Cadman is president of the national church organization which will direct the broadcast.

The program will begin promptly at 10:30 on Christmas Eve with an organ overture by Channing Lefebvre, organist of Trinity Church, New York. Following the brief organ recital there will be broadcast nearly a score of carefully selected Christmas instrumental compositions and songs, many of them old familiar carols.

Concert artists of national fame will sing the vocal numbers and as their voices are wafted through the ether the members of the listening audience will be invited to join in singing, thereby forming a chorus that will flood the country with sweet, joyous athems.

TO ECHO WITH SONG.

Never in the past has it been possible to arrange such an inspiring spiritual service, never has the world known a chorus of singers so large in number as the mighty chorus to be banded together by this radio achievement.

For a period of ninety minutes the country will echo with song, with only a brief interruption to permit Dr. Cadman, on behalf of the Federal Council of Churches, to deliver a Christmas message and greetings to the nation.

Just before midnight the radio stations will be stilled for a moment and then there will be heard the clear, sweet song of the chimes, announcing the midnight hour, signal for a dramatic climax to the program.

Everyone in New England—men, women and children—will want to have a part in this glorious concert. In order that everyone may have this delightful experience the Boston Evening American is preparing to issue a record-breaking edition of newspapers, each copy containing the official booklet of carols, carefully prepared and beautifully decorated, on Saturday, Dec. 24.

Impeached

needs additional power, it was announced, the larger inquiry probably will be authorized.

Senator Borah (R.), Idaho, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, in making this announcement, said he felt the special committee already had ample power to investigate the anti-American activities of any foreign nation.

HEALY TO QUIT IRISH POST

Dublin, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—Timothy Healy, who has been Governor-General of the Irish Free State since its creation, is about to resign, it was reported here today.

Lord Decies and Lord Granard were mentioned as possible successors. Both peers have American wives.

MRS. LILLIENDAHL HAPPY MAKING CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Mays Landing, N. J., Dec. 14 (A.P.)—Mrs. Margaret T. Lilliendahl, who with Willis Beach is waiting in the county jail here to be transferred to State's prison to serve ten years for the killing of her husband, Dr. A. William Lilliendahl, is spending her time making Christmas presents.

She has been embroidering handkerchiefs and doilies for neighbors in and around Vineland. She is interested and cheerful. She was pleased today when a woman friend sent her an elaborate wicker sewing stand.

Firearm Licenses on Decrease in Hub, Board Reports

Fewer licenses for dealing in firearms were issued during the past year than in previous years, the Licensing Board of the city of Boston reported today in its annual statement to Governor Alvan T. Fuller.

The board declared licensees were obeying fully the board's rule that air pistols are firearms and that no distinction shall be made between resident and non-resident purchasers.

Licenses of fifty-one soft drink vendors were revoked during the year.

The board announced that a new type of slot machine, which gives mints and sometimes tokens in return for nickels, the tokens redeemable in merchandise, are "gambling devices" and therefore illegal.

E. H. GOODWIN IN DANA'S JOB

Elliot H. Goodwin of Cambridge was today appointed Commissioner of Civil Service by Governor Fuller to succeed the late Payson Dana, at a salary of $5,000.

Mr. Goodwin was born in Cambridge, and educated in the schools of that city, Harvard College and Harvard Graduate School. He received the degree of Ph. D. from the University of Leipsic.

Mr. Goodwin was assistant secretary and secretary of the National Civil Service Reform League, covering the United States, and secretary of the New York Civil Service Reform Association. Later he became general secretary and vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

OKLAHOMA'S GOVERNOR TO FACE TRIAL

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—Governor Henry S Johnston, who followed the precedent established by Governor Walton in 1923 by calling out State militia to prevent a legislative impeachment session, weakened today.

The executive removed the guard from the Senate chamber, permitting the Senate to meet later in the day. The guard continued to bar admission of House members to their chamber in the other wing, however.

The Senate will receive today from the House board of managers the formal impeachment charges against Governor Johnston, Chief Justice Fred T. Branson and President Harry B. Cordell of the State Board of Agriculture.

The Senate then will decide whether to suspend Governor Johnston, pending his trial, and declare Lieutenant-Governor William J. Holloway acting Governor.

If Johnston is suspended and Holloway attempts to take possession of the executive offices he will find the National Guard barring the way and Johnston still contending that the Legislature is in illegal session because self-convened.

POSTMAN SINCE 1888 SEIZED IN MAIL THEFT

Albert L. Sutton of Bowdoin street, Dorchester, a letter carrier since 1888, was today arrested in a corridor of the main postoffice, charged with abstracting from the mails a letter addressed to a Brighton market. He was to be arraigned later before United States Commissioner Jenney on a charge of larceny from the mails.

AMERICANS IN CANTON SAFE, SAYS CONSUL

Washington, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—All Americans in Canton are safe after a 48-hour reign of terror in which Russian-led rioters pillaged and burned large sections of the city, according to a dispatch to the State Department today from Consul J. C. Houston.

The Nationalists have regained control and are "mopping up," the dispatch stated, "executing suspects and looters by wholesale."

Fifty Americans and thirty-two other foreigners were evacuated to the U. S. S. Sacramento during the height of the disorders.

MOTHER TRIES TO BURY DOG NEAR BABY'S GRAVE

Berlin, N. J., Dec. 14 (A.P.).—Request of a mother to bury a pet police dog beside the grave of her daughter, Jule Price, three, who died last March, because the two were close friends, has been refused by officials of Berlin Cemetery.

The mother, Mrs. Jule Price Stratford, N. J., said the dog, which was killed by a truck two days ago, followed the little girl to the grave and often took toys from a cedar chest in which they were kept and carried them to the cemetery. Mrs. Price says an image of the dog in marble will be placed near the girl's grave.

Cats Win in Will Case

Bath, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Though their legacy was contested, the cats of Mrs Emma Bennet of Prespo are to benefit under her will just the same. She left them most of her $15,000 estate. Relatives accepted a settlement whereby the cats will continue to live happily.

Washington, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—As Lindbergh neared Mexico City today, President Coolidge signed the bill conferring upon him the special Congressional medal of honor.

ON ROCKY ROAD TO HOLLYWOOD

Two 18-year-old Greater Boston girls who said they were bound for Hollywood were found by the police today, asleep in a cottage at Oak Island, Revere.

They gave their names as Jane Dake of Elton avenue, Watertown, and Jennie Tulis of Ivalco street, Somerville, and claimed the cottage was owned by a friend.

The girls told Sergt. Cornelius Cronin and Officer Arthur W. Sweeney they climbed in a window of the cottage, after having spent Sunday and Monday nights in Arlington and Cambridge.

The attention of the police was called to the young women by a taxi driver, who had taken them from Beach street and Ocean avenue to Oak Island.

The girls had 15 cents between them, but said they hoped to meet a man they knew in Revere who they confidently expected would buy them something to eat. They said they had arranged with a Boston youth to take them to New York in a machine, and hoped to get transportation from that city to Hollywood.

ALL MEXICO OUT TO GREET YANKEE 'ENVOY OF CLOUDS'

The authorities ordered five planes at the Valbuena air field to prepare to start immediately to meet Colonel Lindbergh if plane sighted in Michocan should prove to be his.

Based on reports that Colonel Lindbergh had passed over Tampico about 9 o'clock this morning the Spirit of St. Louis was expected at Valbuena about 11:30 A. M., but an hour later had failed to arrive.

The uncertainty prompted President Calles to order all Mexican agencies to seek information of Col. Lindbergh, no authentic report of whom had been received from Mexican territory.

A commercial airplane from Tampico landed at the Valbuena field shortly before noon, causing officials to fear that previous telegraph reports of the sighting of Lindbergh may have been actually reports of the progress of this commercial plane in mistake for the Spirit of St. Louis.

Mexican scouting planes which reconnoitered in the vicinity of Mexico City for Col. Lindbergh returned at noon without sighting him.

The flying colonel, leaving Washington at 12:29 yesterday, estimated his flying time to the capital of Mexico at 26 hours.

As he headed south across the Potomac and continued to steer for the Rio Grande he seemed to have traveled at a speed close to his estimate.

The 26-hour limit would not expire until 2:29, Eastern Standard time, 1:29 in Mexico.

The widely traveled airman has formed a habit of being on time, as shown by his trans-continental air visits when he was within min-

"Oh, Little Town Of Bethlehem"

From Maine to California little children will join in the singing by millions of voices the carols which will usher in the joyous Christmas on Christmas Eve night. The Boston Evening American will on Christmas Eve distribute, free, copies of the carols to be sung.

FULLER NAMES OFFICIALS

Governor Fuller today sent to the council for confirmation a long list of re-appointments of minor officials. They were Moses S. Case of Marblehead, trial justice; Joseph H. Doyle, Milford, master in chancery; Charles W. King, Chicopee, board of registration in pharmacy.

Walter C. Baylies, Taunton, trustee Massachusetts Hospital School; Walter V. McDuffee, Springfield, Arthur H. Lowe, Fitchburg, advisory board, Department of Education; John C. Davis, Needham, trustee Norfolk County Agricultural School.

Fred W. Jenness, Lowell, commissioner on firemen's relief; George H. McLean, Springfield, and George Crompton, Worcester, advisory board, department of public welfare; Leslie R. Smith, Hadley and Evan F. Richardson, Millis, advisory board, department of agriculture; Carleton H. Parsons, Gloucester, master in chancery, and Joseph W. Bailey, New Bedford, trustee New Bedford Textile School.

SUITS FOLLOW SHIP CRASH

Attachments in four suits for $30,000 each to be brought against the owners of the steamer Presidente Wilson which rammed and sank the Gloucester fisherman Avalon October 29, were filed in Federal Court today.

The libellants are Bernice M. Vogler, daughter of Josiah M. Vogler; Mrs. Wilmer B. Vogler, widow of Captain Vogler; Mrs. Elizabeth M. Horton, widow of Everett A. Horton, in own behalf and that of two daughters, and John J. White in behalf of the mother, three sisters and brother of Charles White, whose administrator he is. All are of Gloucester. No date for the return of the writ was set, as the Presidente Wilson is now abroad.

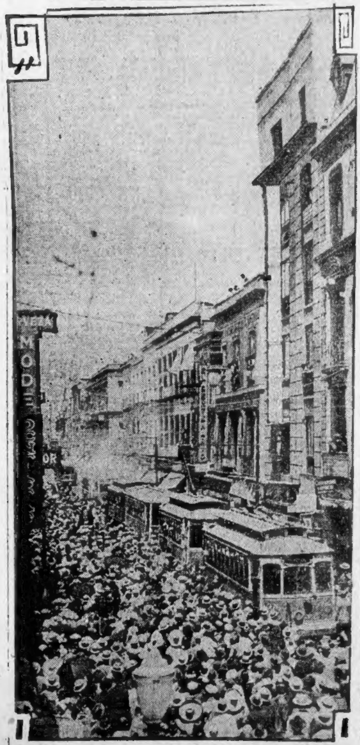
IT'S COLONEL LINDBERGH DAY IN MEXICO'S CAPITAL

The Spirit of St. Louis is shown as it started down the runway at Bolling Field for the non-stop flight to the Republic to the South. Lindbergh was accompanied as far as Richmond, Va., by seven escort planes.

Lindbergh made two attempts to get his plane into the air before he taxied the whole length of the runway and gracefully glided upward. Aviation experts called his take-off as one of the most masterful pieces of flying technique they had ever seen.

BOSTON AMERICAN
BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1927

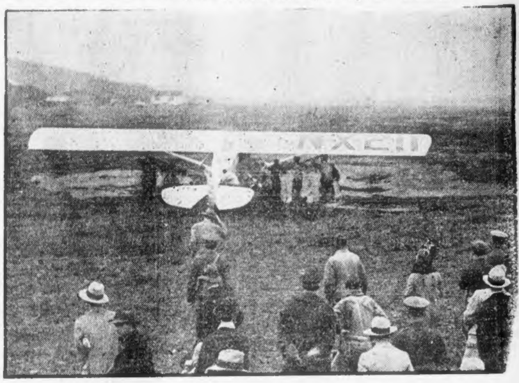
President Calles of Mexico will be assisted in welcoming Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh by his daughter, Alicia, who is shown with her father. This young woman will do the honors when Mexico's "400" extends its greeting.



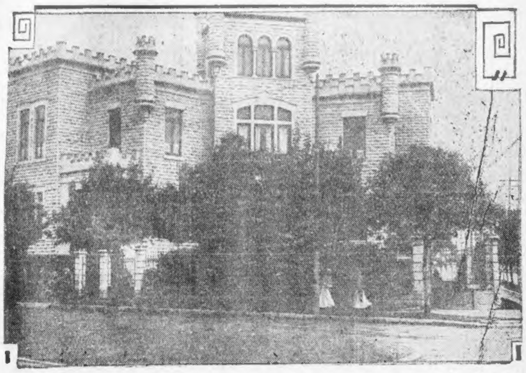
This scene of one of the main business streets in Mexico City illustrates how they turned out today to welcome America's good-will Ambassador. Ever since President Calles announced that Colonel Lindbergh would visit Mexico the natives have been busy preparing for him.

Dwight Morrow, United States Ambassador to Mexico, will be the Colonel's host while he is in the Mexican capital. Thousands will greet "Lindy."

"LINDY" AND HIS FAMOUS SMILE



"There she goes on the runway" That's what the crowd—too few people knew of the plans for there to be much of a crowd—breathed as the Spirit of St. Louis was pushed on the runway just before Lindy hopped off.



The American Embassy in Mexico City will be Lindy's home in the capital. Since his epochal transatlantic flight, he seems to have a habit of stopping at Embassies. The "Lone Eagle" said that he has longed to visit Mexico for some years. Therefore he lost no time in accepting President Calles' invitation. —International Newsreel Photo.

The only time the Spirit of St. Louis backs up is when they tow the famous airship out of the hangar. This photo shows the ship being brought out preparatory to hopping for Mexico City.

KING FAMILY FUND SENDS OUT CHECKS FOR $14,250

Checks totaling $14,250 were sent out today by the Granite Trust Company of Quincy to churches and other institutions, in the annual distributions of the King Family Fund, created Dec. 14, 1912, on the 68th birthday of Theophilus King, president of the bank.

Mr. King celebrated his 83d birthday today with the announcement that the amount sent out was $1,257.25 greater than last year. It goes to 37 Quincy churches of all denominations, seven in other States and charitable organizations in Quincy and elsewhere.

MARJORIE RAMBEAU MISSING FOR 4 DAYS

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 14 (I. N. S).—Strangely missing rehearsals for her forthcoming stage performance, Marjorie Rambeau has mysteriously disappeared from her manager and friends, who have neither seen nor heard from the actress for four days.

Efforts to notify her of the death at Concord, Cal., of her grandmother, widow of Jacob Kinchleberger of Ohio, have been unavailing. The show, in which Miss Rambeau was cast for the feminine lead, is scheduled to open here on Christmas Day.

N. Y. TRIP WITH HOYT TOLD OF BY WIDOW

today by Frederic L. Nichols, counsel for the daughter.

Q.—If any young man would stick by you for six or eight months would that be sufficient reason for such a gift? A.—Under the same circumstances, it would.

Q.—Name the circumstances. A.—He has been everything to me that a perfect gentleman should be, a sincere and true friend.

STOPPED AT HOTEL.

Then the two New York trips were brought out. One, she said, was taken last January and they stopped at the Commodore.

"I paid the bills, naturally, for it was a business trip," she said. "In April we went again and stayed about three and a half days at the Biltmore. We again registered under our own names, absolutely, and I paid the bills."

Mrs. Hatch said the trips were in connection with the stocking of the Harvard square haberdashery.

Q.—Are you fond of Hoyt? A.—Yes, I am fond of him. In what way do you mean?

"YES, I LOVE HIM."

Q.—Have you deep affection for him? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you love him? A.—No, not in the sense you mean.

Q.—Well—in the sense that you mean! A.—In the sense that I mean—yes, I love him.

Q.—Can you imagine anything happening that would change your feelings? A.—Nothing.

Q.—Even if he loves another girl? A.—That is his privilege.

Q.—Wouldn't that change your affection? A.—No.

Q.—If you were told that he was only after your money? A.—I couldn't believe it.

KISSES EXCHANGED.

Q.—Have you been told that he has been after your money? A.—Yes; my daughter Vivian told me on December 23, 1926. We were at the Hotel Touraine. That was the first time anybody told me that he was after my money.

Q.—Has he ever kissed you? A.—He has.

Q.—Have you ever kissed him? A.—Certainly! Wouldn't I be expected to kiss him if he kissed me?

Q.—Has he embraced you? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Well, didn't the customary squeeze go with the kiss? A.—Oh, no.

Q.—Where did he kiss you first? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Oh, you can't remember where he kissed you? A.—I don't remember.

THEIR FIRST KISS.

Q.—How soon after you met him did he kiss you? A.—Oh, I can't tell. Maybe three months. I kissed him good-bye when I left for Bermuda last December.

Q.—Would you ever have thought of opening a haberdashery store if you had not met him? A.—Possibly.

Q.—Hoyt was a haberdasher, wasn't he? A.—Yes.

Q.—Wasn't it your infatuation of love for Hoyt that was the controlling interest in opening this store? A.—No.

Q.—In June wasn't it your infatuation and money against his brain?

An objection by opposing counsel was sustained, and Attorney Nichols dropped the question.

REFUSES TO ANSWER.

Q.—Are your relations with him today exactly as they were in the past? A.—Exactly.

Q.—If Hoyt continues to be as nice to you, would you continue to be as generous with him?

Mrs. Hatch refused to answer the question, even after Judge Beane ruled that it could be answered "Yes" or "No."

Fitchburg, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—The timely ringing of a telephone bell saved the lives of Madeline, 20, and Priscilla, 15, daughters of C. L. Moeckel, a widely known business man, at his flower shop.

The sisters were doing clerical work in the office. A brother, Rudolph, was at work downstairs. When the telephone bell rang and there was no answer he rushed upstairs to find the young women overcome from gas, escaping from a leak in a pipe in the office.

ASK 700 MILLION OF CONGRESS IN NAVY PROGRAM

Washington, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—A naval building program ultimately to cost more than $700,000,000 and represented as being in harmony with the President's financial plans was transmitted to Congress today by Secretary Wilbur.

It would call for construction of 25 light cruisers, nine destroyer leaders, thirty-two submarines and five aircraft carriers.

The President would be given authority to suspend contruction in his discretion in the event of an international conference for limitation of naval armaments.

PLANE CARRIER LEXINGTON IN COMMISSION

With brief but impressive ceremonies, the gigantic airplane carrier Lexington, built at the Fore River Shipyards, Quincy, today became an active unit of the United States Navy in which it is deemed destined for a glorious future.

Capable of crossing to Europe in four and a half days, with a speed range up to 40 miles an hour, 880 feet long and 160 feet broad, the Lexington will have the eyes of the world upon her in her practice cruises soon to come with 80 airplanes on her deck or in her "garage."

On December 22 or 23 the vessel is due to be taken from her Fore River dock on a hazardous, though short voyage, out of the narrow stream and to Boston for further conditioning at America's biggest drydock, at South Boston.

This record-achieving product of New England workmanship was formally delivered to Rear Admiral Philip Andrews by Vice-President Samuel W. Wakeman of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company before a crowd of Quincy city officials, naval men and 1,400 marines, sailors and officers standing at attention on the two-acre flying deck.

A bugle call sounded, colors were hoisted astern and Admiral Andrews turned the vessel over to Captain A. W. Marshall. The "skipper" read his orders, in which the words "public interest" sounded conspicuously, and then the first bo'sun's whistle was followed by the command to "set watch."

The Lexington is a sister ship of the Saratoga, recently commissioned at Philadelphia, but is much larger. Her crew will number 1,800 men and 200 officers, including aviators and airplane mechanics, and she carries for armament eight eight-inch guns and twelve five-inch rifles. As she is moved from her berth in the river there will be a scant six feet leeway beneath her keel at high tide and less than 20 feet leeway in channel width.

The Lexington, full completed, will cost between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. The craft is a new departure in naval architecture. Her four smoke stacks are concealed by steel casing, while the four eight-inch gun turrets, navigating and tripod masts are all housed on one side, leaving a clear runway of nearly 900 feet for the planes.

Tthere are more than 42,000,000 pounds of structural steel, 5,500,000 rivets and 6,500,000 pounds of steel castings in the hull alone, and the electrical power plant that runs the vessel would be capable of providing light for all Boston.

For going away without making his identity known, he was sentenced to six months. He appealed, bail in the latter charge being fixed at $500.

SEEKS JOB AS EXECUTIONER OF MRS. WEST

Columbus, O., Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—A request that he be permitted to be "the executioner" of Mrs. Velma West, self-confessed slayer of her husband, Edward West of Perry, O., was received today by Governor Donahey in a letter bearing the signature of "Lloyd J. B. Kemerer, Pittsburgh, Pa."

The letter said:

"After reading the account of the cold-blooded murder of Edward West of Perry, O., by his wife, who so coolly confessed, so soon after her marriage vow, under oath to God, I am inspired to take the pleasure of writing you with an urgent request to be permitted to assist in the execution of the woman, or, if possible, would appreciate being the executioner.

"I, myself, once had a wife who wanted to go out for thrills and, after forgetting marriage vows, ten days after our marriage—over nine years ago—threatened many times to murder me. Yet I, being fearless, lived with her until she left and obtained a divorce.

"Therefore, I realize quite well what good justice in these cases will help the public.

"I have had four years' service with the U. S. Army, am fearless and of a firm mind—such as would be the requirements for such cases.

"Was desirous of having my application reach you promptly and trust same shall have your honorable consideration."

In view of the fact that Mrs. West has not yet been tried, serious consideration was not given the letter at the Governor's office.

M'CORMACK SONG COMPOSER IS DEAD

London, Dec. 14 (A.P.)—The wish of Charles Marshall to see again his old friend, John McCormack, for whom he composed the song, "I Hear You Calling Me," will not be fulfilled. Marshall died Sunday at Wembley, and McCormack is not likely to arrive in time for the funeral, as he is now en route to Southampton aboard the Aquitania. Marshall, an accompanist, composed the famous song in 1912 especially for McCormack.

STATE TO FORCE DOG RESTRAINT IN LYNN

Preparations were made today for the State to enforce the order requiring the leashing of all dogs for 90 days, should Mayor Ralph S. Bauer of Lynn continue in his refusal to assist.

Director Frank Cummings of the division of animal industry of the State Department of Conservation, after a conference with Assistant Attorney-General Callahan, announced that he had arranged for a meeting with Mayor Bauer.

FOIL 4 THUGS IN HOLDUP

Posing as policemen and flashing badges, four armed thugs tried to hold up the Blue Hill Avenue Motor Mart in Dorchester today, but were scared off by the arrival of several taxicabs.

The four drove into the garage, which is located at No. 1239 Blue Hill avenue, and asked for the manager. When Philip Sidmond responded they said they were plainclothesmen and displayed badges.

The quartet had backed him against the wall when the arrival of two taxis halted them. Turning swiftly the thugs hopped into their car and sped away.

20,891 Killed in U. S. by Auto Crashes Last Year

Washington, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—Deaths from automobile accidents in the United States are increasing both in total number and in proportion to population with each year. The Commerce Department fixes the total number of automobile accident deaths in 1926 in the United States at 18,871 persons.

This gave an indicated death rate of 17.9 persons per year per 100,000 of population. In 1925, the similar rate was 17, in 1924 it was 15.7 while in 1923 it was but 14.9 and in 1922 but 12.5.

Deaths met in collisions between automobiles and railroad trains or street cars were excluded from its findings. If included, the list of fatalities would have been 20,891 deaths, and the automobile death rate would have been increased to 19.9 per 100,000 of population.

CITY HALL EMPLOYES GIVE "SALLIES" $1,000

Captain Irene Mott of the Salvation Army was handed $1,000 in cash today by Mayor Nichols at City Hall, this amount being contributed collected from various departmental employes by City Collector George H. Johnson.

It was the largest amount ever collected for the "Sallies" from city employes. It goes to the Sallies' general maintenance appeal fund.

NICHOLS SAYS BOSTON NEEDS MORE 'PEP'

By HENRY L. DAILY.

"Don't make new business, wishing to locate in Boston, go through hell before they are allowed to erect a building. If you do the city will die of dry rot," declared Mayor Nichols.

In an interview on local conditions, the first he has granted for some time, the Mayor plainly stated that more "pep" must be injected in getting new business to enter the portals of the city and a more liberal attitude shown in the future growth of the business centres.

"What is the matter with the city?" he was asked.

"There is nothing the matter with the city. The situation is that we need new business, increased new business. Encourage new business to locate here and an elasticity of the law which would make it inviting for new business to look towards Boston," he replied.

"We want new business to come to the Hub. If Boston won't encourage this, how is the business development of the city going to increase?" he further stated.

ABOUT ZONING LAW.

"Do you think that the zoning law prevents new business from locating here?"

"Now that you speak of that, let me point out an example. The 155-foot limit on buildings extends in a southerly direction as far as Massachusetts avenue, Back Bay.

"Only the other day the Zoning Adjustment Board held a hearing on the petitions of the Durant Inc. and Sears, Roebuck and Co. for a change in the zoning law. They want to build to the extent of 155 feet, but under the existing law they cannot."

"Do you favor this extension? Mr. Mayor."

"I certainly do. Let me explain. There are nearly 800,000 persons entering the city from the Massachusetts avenue direction to the centre of the city every day.

"This is about the same number of persons who enter the loop district of Chicago daily. Let me show you the geography of Boston. (Here the Mayor drew an outline of Boston roughly on a pad of paper.)

NEED OF EXPANDINGG.

"You see here (pointing to the downtown section) the pressure is to get out and expand. The most natural direction is out beyond Massachusetts avenue.

"In my opinion if $50,000,000 worth of new construction beyond the present 155-foot zone were to be erected in that section, I think that this alone analyzes the needs of expanding the city.

"The Durant project is a worthy one. There are some 10,000 women connected with it and it would prove to be a civic centre. It is important not only to encourage this proposition but to encourage the Sears, Roebuck petition as well.

"I am given to understand that if permission is granted them they will do the bulk of their New England business here. They will employ 3,000 persons. Not only this but the construction of these two building will afford employment to many when the employment conditions of the city are severe at present.

"How about the Boston of the future in reference to business, Mr Mayor?"

"The possibilities of greater business opportunities for Boston in the next few years I think are enormous, but we must encourage business to come to Boston. What we need is more pep in this direction and a more liberal attitude shown new business."

"Then what we need in Boston is new business and new construction?"

"That is true. In 1926 the increased valuation, personal and real estate, was $38,000,000. In 1927 it was $31,000,000. I could have made them higher this year with a lower tax rate, but I believe a tax rate ought to be expressed to the taxpayer as to just what it is.

DEFLATING VALUES.

"I instructed the board of assessors to deflate the downtown values because I believed that they were higher than they ought to be. Wards 1, 2 and 3 show a reduction in valuation in excess of $7,000,000 for this year, largely due to adjustments and revision of values of the waterfront and office buildings. This does not take all of the reductions that have been made, but a number of the larger ones.

"The gains in the suburban property on buildings in Wards 12 to 22 are due almost entirely to the construction of new dwellings, but also include some store properties, showing a gain of $14,990,000.

"The gains in the rest of the city on buildings are $19,019,900. Of this increase $14,990,000 is due to new buildings in Ward 5 and the balance $4,029,900, is in the remaining Wards 1-11."

"In other words, Mr. Mayor, you depend on new business for new construction?"

"Yes, but before I say a word on that subject let me say that during the post two years of my administration there has been a gross deflation of valuation of downtown property to the extent of $10,000,000 which has relieved the real estate owners of some burden

ENCOURAGE BUSINESS.

"The petition of the Durant Company, the property of which is at present in the B-80 foot district asks that this be changed to the B-155 foot district. The Board of Zoning Adjustment heard the petition on December 9.

"Sears, Roebuck and Company wants to build at Audubon road and Brookline avenue in a zone marked B-65 and B-80. They want this changed to B-155.

"Federal authorities say that postal receipts would increase tremendously. In the Durant case it would encourage business to go out of the centre of the city and locate where congestion is not so great.

"Large business and moneyed interests in building industry will not come to Boston if we do not encourage the proper development by permitting suitable buildings to be erected on particular parcels of land.

"The representation of men who have lived and invested their money on Huntington avenue of the B-155 foot limit should be taken as conclusive," said the Mayor in closing.

Some Highlights of Mayor Nichols' "Pep" Plea

More "pep" must be injected in Boston to secure new business.

A more liberal attitude must be shown for the future growth of the city.

Favors re-zoning for the benefit of new business.

Hopes zoning adjustment board will take the same view.

Don't make new business go through Hell to get into Boston.

New business means new buildings, additional taxation, lower tax rate, more employment.

Expansion of the business district.

Encouragement to new business is his slogan.

MAJOR DUANE IS REINSTATED BY LEGION POST

Clinton, Dec. 14 (A.P.)—A four-year-old controversy between James R. Kirby Post, American Legion, and Major James T. Duane, world war veteran, has ended. Major Duane has been reinstated as a member of this post in good standing.

Duane was suspended for refusing to obey an order of officers of the post that he apologize to three prominent members for participating in its activities without paying their dues, after the financial officer denied they were in arrears.

Major Duane took the fight to the state executive committee, which upheld him and ordered his reinstatement under threat of suspending the charter of the Post.

The Post appealed to the National Committee and the courts and the case was pending when the settlement was made last night. It has cost the Post $3,000 to wage its fight against th state committee.

LYNN MAN ON TRIAL IN LARCENY OF $67,000

William H. Murphy, Jr., of Lynn, was placed on trial before Judge Donahue and a jury today on indictments which charges him with the larceny of $67,500 from the Atlantic National Bank of Boston.

Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle said the government would show Murphy, as treasurer of the Murphy, Gorman & Waterhouse, Inc., manufacturers ofshoes in Lynn, asked a loan on Aug. 18, 1926, from the Atlantic Bank and represented his firm had liabilities of $120,000, wheras Mr. Doyle said the firm actually owed $252,000 on notes.

NEAL REVOKES BACK BAY 'GAS' STATION PERMIT

The permit granted by the Boston street commissioners to Frederick L. O'Neil for a gasoline filling station at No. 601 Commonwealth avenue at Sherborn street was revoked today by Fire Marshal George C Neal. The marshal's decision is the result of an appeal taken on the action of the street commissioners by Stanley W. Smith and Charles F. Cutler.

HUB GREETS MAINE VETS WITH CONFEDERATE FLAGS

Confederate flags captured by Maine men during the Civil War came into Boston today, en route to Washington, in the hands of seven G. A. R. veterans, led by Governor Ralph O. Brewster of the Pine Tree State.

Met at the North Station by George H. Johnson, director of public celebrations, and delegations from the American Legion, Military Order of the World War, V. F. W., Spanish War Veterans and G. A. R., the visiting veterans were escorted to the State House and City Hall for formal greetings by the Governor and Mayor. The veterans, whose ages average 83, will go to Washington to place the flags in a national shrine.

AUTO ALCOHOL MIXTURE IS FATAL TO PRIZE COW

Southbridge, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—H. W Dodge, a wealthy farmer living on West Woodstock road, drew the water and denatured alcohol mixture from the radiator of his automobile and left it in a pail on the barn floor.

One of his prize cows happened along and gulped down the liquid before she could be shooed away. The animal died before he could procure the services of a veterinarian.

Many good Used Cars driven only a few hundred miles are offered every day in Boston American Classified Ads. See Classification 150.

LAST TRIBUTES FOR EX-MAYOR MATTHEWS

Former Mayor Nathan Matthews was laid to rest today in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, following services in St. Paul's Cathedral, in which many persons prominent in political, business and professional life of the city participated.

The church services were simple, there being no eulogy. Bishop Samuel G. Babcock conducted the service, assisted by Rev. W. F. A. Stride of Christ Church, Hamilton and Rev. Thomas Burgess of the National Council of the Episcopal Church.

HONORARY BEARERS.

The honorary bearers were Judge William L. Loring, Judge James M. Morton, Judge William C. Wait, Thomas W. Proctor, Herbert Leeds, General Francis Peabody, Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard Law School and William G. Thompson.

Ushers were Romney Spring, chief; Manlius Sargent, Sullivan A. Sargent, Jr., George S. Burgess, George E. Mears, Carl H. Baesler, Paul E. Lord, Dr. Alexander Burgess and F. G. Moulton.

Mayor Nichols, former Mayors Curley, Fitzgerald and Peters and Sheriff John A. Keliher and City Clerk James Donovan were among those present. The governor was represented by Major Walter M. Pratt and staff.

GIRL IS LED TO POLICE BY HER 'BEAU IDEAL'

New York, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—Attractive Constance Blanchard, twenty-seven, Springfield, Mass., the nurse who came to New York to marry her beau ideal in the "Little Church Around the Corner," today went to the little police station around the corner to answer $550 worth of bad check charges.

Constance blames "Robert Henry" for her plight. Robert, whom she met in Springfield, was to marry her in New York. He wore a raccoon coat and had ideas. One of them had to do with her bad check experience, she said. Now he's disappeared with $100 of her ill-gotten money.

The nurse registered at a hotel here, waited a week for Robert and then gave an alleged $50 worthless check for payment. Previously she said she had worked a $200 worthless check scheme at Springfield and gave Robert half the amount. She has not seen him since.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY PRESENTED TO AMHERST

Amherst, Dec. 13 (A.P.)—Amherst College has been notified that it will have a new chemical laboratory as a gift from Mrs. William Henry Moore of New York and her two sons, Edward Small Moore and Paul Moore.

The building will be erected in memory of Mrs. Moore's husband, the late William Henry Moore, who was graduated in the class of 1871. Mr. Moore was a widely-known lawyer and financier.

MEXICAN THRONGS WAIT TO GREET LINDY

MANY TOWNS REPORT PROGRESS OF 'ENVOY OF SKY' AS HE WINGS WAY SOUTH

utes of his schedule, even when the weather threatened to prevent the famous firm of "we" from functioning.

With the air above portions of Mexico dotted with planes eager to welcome the lone eagle, Lindbergh was reported at places over which he probably did not pass.

The sound of an airplane motor was heard across the United States along the trail Lindbergh was expected to follow at intervals throughout the night and at 4 o'clock this morning he was believed to have been on the point of quitting the United States for Mexico.

A plane reported as being Lindbergh's was recorded as having passed over a number of Mexican towns during the morning hours. toynca, Jautipan and Pachuca, the toynca, Jaltipau and Pochuca, the latter about 90 miles from Mexico City.

Gloom at Field When Lindy Fails to Appear

Valbuena Air Field, Dec. 14 (A.P.). —Silence, almost approaching gloom, prevailed over the great crowd at Valbuena Air Field as the 25th hour of Colonel Lindberg's flight to Mexico City passed with Lindbergh's whereabouts since he left Texas territory unknown.

President Calles was ready to order out airplane parties at any moment if necessary, meanwhile hopefully waiting the results of widespread inquiries by the government telegraph concerning the American flier.

A squadron of Mexican planes sent out to meet Lindbergh as the hour he was scheduled to appear approached, later returnel without sighting him.

While the Colonel was reported as nearing the end of his epic journey, the assembled military bands played popular airs in different parts of the field to entertain the ever-growing crowd.

The Presidential Band, one of the best in the republic, stationed in front of the presidential gallery, played American as well as Mexican tunes.

All eager for a glimpse of the skyland hero, the crowds began to gather at the field long before dawn.

Planes Do Stunts

Although it had been expected yesterday that a crowd of possibly 10,000 might be expected, the estimates were far overrun this morning and the spectators were still pouring onto the field when Lindbergh was scheduled to appear.

Soldiers were stationed at intervals of a foot or two to keep the crowds from the huge landing field to avoid repetition of the confusion caused at Le Bourget and Croydon on Lindbergh's flight to Paris and his subsequent trip to England.

President Calles and his entire cabinet arrived at the field at 8:40. At that time the aerial visitor was thought to be somewhere along the coast of the State of Tamaulipas en route to Tampico, Ambassador Morrow and his staff appeared a few minutes later. The American ambassador at once proceeded to the presidential box, where President Calles and his cabinet welcomed him.

Meanwhile Mexican army planes were doing stunts over the field for the amusement of the crowd. As they awaited the Lone Eagle's advent, Ambassador Morrow, who was seated between President Calles and General Obregon, engaged in chats with his two neighbors through an interpreter.

Congress Wires Praise to Lindy Ere He Lands

Washington, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—Getting hold of one of the numerous false reports that Lindbergh had arrived in Mexico City, Representative Tilson, Republican House leader, announced the arrival as a fact in the House today.

Forthwith the House voted with enthusiasm to instruct Speaker Longworth to wire premature congratulations to the young flier.

By 9:45 o'clock the thousands of spectators were packed around the edges of the field six feet deep.

The first foreign diplomat to arrive, outside of Ambassador Morrow, was Jean B. De Perier, the French minister. He was particularly interested in Colonel Landbergh's flight because of the epocn-making New York-to-Paris flight of the American flier last Summer.

25,000 Troops Out

Virtually perfect weather conditions prevailed shortly before Lindbergh was due to arrive. The sky was streaked with white clouds and the sun was shining brightly.

Motorcycle police patrolling the field aided the troops in holding the surging crowds in check. It is estimated that at least 25,000 soldiers were on duty at the field and along the roads leading out from Mexico City proper.

BUSINESS SUSPENDED.

All government business, except that of receiving Lindbergh, and all business in Mexico City, except that of welcoming Lindbergh, was suspended today by presidential order, a public holiday was proclaimed, which has never been done before for any foreigner.

Certainly no foreigner, and probably not even the greatest Mexican hero entering the capital, has ever received such a welcome from the people as has been prepared for Lindbergh.

The interest was evident from peon to President. President Calles remained up until after midnight, receiving news of Lindbergh's progress from the Associated Press. When Calles retired he left orders to be called early—for Calles, like everybody else, is afraid that Lindbergh by some magic may slip in ahead of schedule.

More American flags probably than were ever flown before in the capital of Mexico fluttered in the streets. Street vendors offered the emblems of both countries for sale. Decorators under government orders festooned the principal avenues with red, white and blue bunting for the United States and green, white and red bunting for Mexico.

Late into the night electric signs reading "Viva Lindbergh" blazed. The greeting was also displayed on posters and placards.

Prayer for Lindy Brings Congress to Its Feet

Washington, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.). —Members of the National House stood with bowed heads today while Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain, uttered a prayer for the safety of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh on his Mexican flight.

The prayer follows:

"O God, be Thou with America's incomparable hero as he sails on the open bowl of the skies, passes the shoulders of the mountains and enters the gateway of the Republic on the South.

"May his marvelous chivalry, sweet and beautiful simplicity and high moral standards be an example and inspiration for the youth of our land."

Washington Anxious as It Waits Word of Lindy

Washington, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—The eyes of the American people were turned toward Mexico City today and their ears waited eagerly for news that Lindbergh, the air hero, had landed there at the end of his Washington-to-Mexico City flight.

Various reports came over the wires and cables telling of the young flier being sighted at various points near Mexico City, but the definite word that he had successfully completed his journey was the only word the nation wanted.

Beginning soon after noon, eastern time, the air was filled with rumors that the pilot had completed his journey over the mountains to the capital city of Mexico, but as each was run to its source it was found that it was merely a new angle given to some earlier piece of incorrect information.

Failure of scout planes sent out from Mexico City to sight Colonel Lindbergh did not greatly disturb Lindbergh's closest friends here, who voiced every confidence in his ability to carry through his attempt.

The last definite word on the whereabouts of the "Spirit of St. Louis" placed it near Pachuca, at noon Eastern time. This point is 90 miles from Mexico City.

The arrival of a commercial plane at Mexico City threw some doubt on the report that Lindbergh had been seen at Pachuca.

Mexican officials believed this commercial plane may have been mistaken for the American pilot, who previously had been reported flying over the Tampico-Mexico City route. This offered the disturbing possibility that other Mexican reports of Lindbergh's progress may have been inaccurate.

Some army aviators believed Lindbergh might not have taken the direct route from Tampico to Mexico City, and had chosen instead to go down the coast toward Vera Cruz and pick up the Vera Cruz-Mexico City Railroad line.

This would take considerably more time and would not place him in Mexico City until mid-afternoon.

Mexicans Report Lindy Over Town Along Border

Brownsville, Tex., Dec. 14 (A.P.).—A party of Mexican fishermen returning here reported that a plane believed to have been Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis passed over Washington Beach, twenty-eight miles southeast of Matamoros, Mexico, about 5 a. m. today.

Washington Beach is forty miles south of Point Isabel, Texas, where army officers had lighted flares early today to guide Colonel Lindbergh. The flier, however, was not sighted at Point Isabel or Brownsville, which he had been expected to pass in leaving the United States to fly down the Mexican coast.

Heavy fog shrouded the ground in the vicinity of Point Isabel early today at the time Colonel Lindbergh was due to approach the border.

Residents of Porto Aransas about 130 miles above Brownsville, reported that a plane was heard at 4:03 a. m. Due to fog the craft was not sighted, but it was presumed to be the motor of the Spirit of St. Louis that was heard.

Lindy's Ma Quits Class to Wait News of Son

Detroit, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—Mrs. Evangeline L. L. Lindbergh, mother of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, kept in touch with the Associated Press here today, seeking the latest reports of the whereabouts of the flier.

Mrs. Lindbergh, while indicating some uneasiness in view of conflicting reports regarding her son, said that he had told her the flight would require probably twenty-six hours for completion. She appeared familiar with all the details of the flight.

Informed while teaching her chemistry class at Cass Technical High School here that some apprehension was felt for Colonel Lindbergh, Mrs. Lindbergh left her class room, but remained at the High School, to receive the latest reports of her son's progress.

"One never knows how these things will turn out," she said.

"WE"

Colonel Lindbergh's own story of his life, his amazing, but modestly admitted, achievements and, in between the lines, his own personality, will start, in serial form, in the Boston Evening American on Monday, January 9. Don't fail to get it.

Lindy Bulletins!

Mexico City, Dec. 14, 1:40 p. m. (A.P.).—The Mexican Air Force received unconfirmed reports at 1:30 p. m., from Yuriria in the State of Michoacan that an airplane, thought to be that of Col. Lindbergh's, had passed over that place.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 14 (A.P.).—The Western Union Telegraph Company reported that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh passed Huasca, about 60 kilometers from Mexico City at 11:20 a. m.

Tampico, Mexico, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—The Mexican Aviation Company, which early today reported the passage of Col. Lindbergh's plane over Tampico, reiterated this afternoon that only one plane passed through Tampico, and that plane was Col. Lindbergh's.

Mexico City, Dec. 14—1:10 p. m.—(A.P.).—The Western Union Cable Company, which received a message at 9 o'clock this morning reporting Colonel Lindbergh over Tampico at 8:50 a. m., received another Tampico message this afternoon insisting that Colonel Lindbergh did pass over Tampico about the time stated.

Washington, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—Consul General Frost at Tampico cabled the State Department today that Lindbergh had passed over Tampico at 8:50 a. m., Central time. This is the time specified in other reports on which some doubt has been cast. The consul gave no details.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 14 (A.P.).—Information received here by the Western Union Telegraph Company stated that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh passed over Tantoyuca, State of Vera Cruz, at 10:18 a. m. Tantoyuca is more than an hour's flight from Mexico City as the crow flies.

Valbuena Airfield, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—The Presidential Telegraph office received a telegram at 11 a. m. today, stating that Lindbergh had passed over villages near Pachuca, about 90 miles from Mexico City, and the town of Jaltipan, in the State of Hidalgo, at 10:22 a. m.

Tampico, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—It was rumored here, but without confirmation, that Colonel Lindbergh had lost his way en route to Mexico City in the Panuco River zone, southwest of Tampico.

(The Panuco River, which rises in a mountain range on the great interior plateau in the State of Hidalgo, flows northeast and empties into the Gulf of Mexico at Tampico.)

Valbuena Flying Field, Mexico City, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—One of the Mexican army planes doing stunt flying here today while awaiting the arrival of Colonel Lindbergh, went into a nose dive and crashed into the field several hundred yards in front of the presidential stand occupied by President Calles and American Ambassador Morrow. The pilot of the plane was not injured. The propeller was broken, but the plane suffered little damage.

Tampico, Mexico, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—Advices received here said that Colonel Lindbergh passed Point Isabel, Texas, near Brownsville, at 6:30 o'clock this morning.

GIRL OFFERS TO SELL TWO EARS

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 14 (I.N.S.). —Grace Bundage, 19, the youngest of seven sisters in her family, today offered to sell one ear for $3,500 or make a bargain day sweep of both organs for $5,000, she announced in response to the Chicago woman who advertised recently for an ear.

Grace, who is attractive and blonde, has been out of employment all Summer. She would provide her parents with a home, she says.

U. S. HAS 5 1-3 BILLIONS OF THE WORLD'S CASH

Washington, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—The United States has nearly one-third of all the "hard cash" in the world. Out of $13,851,000,000 gold and silver coinage in existence, $5,340,000,000 is in this country, the treasury announced today.

Six countries have more paper money than the United States—France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Rumania and Yugoslavia—but its unit value is only a small fraction of the American dollar.

TELLER QUIZZED IN SHIP PROBE

Washington, Dec. 14 (A.P.)—Commissioner Teller of the Shipping Board said today his conduct had been investigated by the Department of Justice in connection with a loan made to former Commissioner W. S Hill by persons connected with West Coast shipping interests.

Teller, who is Pacific Coast representative of the board, said he had told the department he knew nothing about the case until Hill told the board about it.

"It was natural for the Department of Justice to question me," he said, "as I had been financially interested in Swayne & Hoyt (a shipping company of San Francisco) before becoming a member of the board. I sold all the interest I had in that company before coming to Washington."

FEAR CREW OF 22 LOST

Houghton, Mich., Dec. 14 (A.P.)—Coast guards under command of Capt. Gloza, today prepared to leave for a search of the Keweenaw Peninsula shores for trace of the Canadian package freighter Kamloops, lost during the recent storm on Lake Superior.

ANDREW SPEAKS FOR NEW $4,500,000 AIRSHIP

Washington, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—The Navy Department was criticized today by members of the House Naval Affairs Committee for delaying construction of a new $4,500,000 airship. Edward P. Warner, air secretary, defended the department, saying complete authority was not granted by Congress.

Representative Andrew (R.) of Massachusetts, told Warner that if the Navy had been alert it could already have had the changes made by Congress.

RADIO DIALOG

by C. WILLIAM RADOS

DEDICATED to public service whether the public wants it or not we now publish the results of our nation-wide search for the all-American best singer. Results from left to right. The ones left out will be right. Oliver Aspagras, president of Dialog College, picked the winners.

8:00 P. M.—Station MUMP broadcasting direct from Bimble Bargain Basement, take the elevator up eight flights to save money. All letters in response to this broadcast are good for an extra pair of pants with each two pants suit purchased at Bimble's. Before the prize winners are announced the announcer will tell the listeners fairy tales about the probable winners of the contest. Then Oliver will step forth and tell some more fairy tales when he names the winners.

* * *

8:01 P. M.—Announcer: "Ladies and gentlemen the probable winner of this stupendous nation-wide search may be Mr. Homely F. Ace, long a resident of Pantsseat, Ohio. Mr. Ace is well known in ecclesiastical circles, having substituted for the local church singer when she had the measles. In other musical fields, Mr. Ace also had extensive experience. He used to sing in the glee club of the Pantsseat Academy when but a freshman. Unfortunately the club was discontinued the rest of his years there."

* * *

9:30 P. M. Miss Mazie Amazement Bimble Bundle Beauty, is expected by many to walk off with the fourth prize of $5,000. If she gets it, she will never walk again. Now Boston's lone contestant, Miss Mazie will not be lonely long if she gets the $5,000.

When the contest started last September it waxed through a series of recitals although Mazie declared she never uses wax. Her clean slip through to the finnish however indicated she must have had lots of lux then.

10:00 P. M. Oliver Sudden, distant relative of Pres. Aspagras is picked by many to win. Pres. Aspagras says although Mr. Sudden is a distant relative, unfortunately distance doesn't mean much in these days. Mr. Sudden bears the record of being the most musical inmate of Sing Sing. When first considered for a position therein he struck a high note of despair. His high toned airs have also been widely known.

* * *

A lighter vein is struck with Candidate One Long Hop, Chinese aviator, who has the rare distinction of being able to sing a duet with himself. Besides lighter veins, One Long Leap also has arteries and tan shoes. No one else can sing his stuff, so Mr. Jump is considering training himself into a quartet This will be known as Hop, Jump, Leap and skip. If this brilliant flier wins he will be mentioned as a prominent candidate for last year's Mexican President.

WISH COUNTRY WOULD FOLLOW WEEI AND WNAC

Officials of station WEEI and WNAC who yesterday signed an agreement limiting their respective stations to 500 watts, today indicate that such a move on the part of broadcasters everywhere would do much to solve the present radio chaos in other cities. Both stations had petitioned the Federal Radio Commission for increase to 5,000 watts, but after a Boston conference withdrew. WBZA also intends to stick to the 500 watt maximum.

$125

All from your house current at a fraction of a cent an hour

YOU wanted compact radio—and Atwater Kent made it. You wanted the convenience of ONE Dial operation—and Atwater Kent supplied that, too.

But you wanted something more. You asked for compactness plus ONE Dial plus the simplicity of getting all the power from your house lighting circuit.

So here it is—Atwater Kent house-current radio—and it's right!

On a table, bookshelf or window-ledge, or into a console designed to accommodate Atwater Kent Radio goes the trim and beautiful new Atwater Kent A. C. Receiver—so small and light a child can handle it.

Simply plug into the nearest house-current socket for all the power you need. A true all-electric set using the new A. C. tubes.

And Economy with a capital E. For the current is costing only a fraction of a cent an hour!

Try this new and more wonderful radio at the nearest Atwater Kent dealer's—today.

The Models 35 and 33 (shown below) are battery-operated receivers. They are not A. C. sets, such as the Model 36 described above. But they may be operated from your electric light circuit as a source of current supply. It's merely a matter of equipment. Just tell the dealer which you wish—battery power or socket power.

RUTH WILL SEE DAUGHTER ON CHRISTMAS

New York, Dec. 14.—Ruth Brown Snyder, awaiting death in Sing Sing Prison, will see her daughter Lorraine for the first time since she went to prison, on Christmas Day, unless present plans go awry. Recently she decided to see the child, and now she has tentatively fixed Christmas Day for the visit.

Warden Lawes of Sing Sing, who realizes that Lorraine does not know her mother's predicament, has arranged to remove as much of the prison atmosphere as is humanely possible when the child appears.

Lorraine will not be able to have Christmas dinner with her mother. Only a brief hour in the afternoon will be granted Lorraine, and that, it is believed now, in the death house corridor.

Formal transfer of the Snyder home at 9227 Two Hundred and Twenty-second street, Queens Village, from Mrs. Snyder to her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown of 1116 Woody Crest avenue, Highbridge, the Bronx, was completed today at the office of the Queens County Surrogate in Jamaica.

Lorraine was restrained by the Supreme Court today from prosecuting her suit against the Prudential Insurance Company of America to recover $95,000 insurance on the life of her farther, Albert Snyder. The injunction will remain effective until the insurance company's suit to have the policies cancelled is determined.

Henry Judd Gray, resigned to his fate, today declared further examination of him by State and other alienists is a waste of time.

"I have nothing more to tell and nothing more to reveal," he told his mother .Mrs. Margaret Gray, who visited him in the death house today. "I told everything at the trial and that's all."

Gray said he has no hopes of averting the extreme penalty and is ready to "take his medicine." Despite her son's gloomy forebodings, Mrs. Gray, upon leaving the death house, said: "I feel, with a mother's intuition, that Governor Smith will be merciful and spare my boy."

125 DRIVEN OUT IN LYNN FIRE

Directly behind the flaming edifice is situated the Winthrop Hotel, a small rooming place. Here more than 80 men and women became panic-stricken as the smoke and roar of flames reached their windows. All ocupants fled to the street, many attired in flimsy night clothes.

Mrs. Anna Pasquale, fifty-two, a guest, was overcome by smoke in her room on the fourth floor. She was carried to the street by Fireman John Kenneally and Patrolman Leon Wilson. Mrs. Aurore Perrault, owner of the hotel, and L. E. Goodwin, a roomer, rushed through the building warning the inmates to leave. Firemen guided Mrs. Ella J. Barbeau and her daughter Helen, to the street. Rose Danis and Dolorette Le Brasseur, who occupied rooms on the third floor, were partially overcome by smoke, but made their way to the street unassisted.

The cause of the blaze has as yet been undetermined. It was discovered at 4 o'clock and firefighters battled it from all directions and neighboring roofs for two hours before checking it.

It was discovered by Mr. Nugent, who was on night duty at the Y. M. C. A. After turning in an alarm he ran from room to room waking the sleeping members in his building.

The smoke belched from all directions and for a time threatened the Winthrop Hotel. Firemen succeeded in confining it to the burning structure.

UNION IMPORTING CO. DID NOT HAVE A FIRE

On November 16, the Boston Evening American printed a story to the effect that a two-alarm fire had caused damage of $5,000 on the top floor of the four story building, Nos. 117-129 Fulton street, North End, occupied by the Union Importing Company, the New England Grocery Company and the Beacon Creamery Company.

Through an unfortunate error, the wrong numbers of the burned building were printed, the fire having taken place in the building at Nos. 125-127 Fulton street owned by the Holland System and occupied by the Fulton Casing Company, manufacturers of sausage casings. The Union Importing Company did not have a fire, and the American regrets that a story to that effect should have been published.

STILL PAY U. S. TAXES AT PARK SQUARE BUILDING

Your Federal taxes must be paid at the Park Square Building for another month at least. Thomas W. White, collector of internal revenue for Massachusetts, today corrected an erroneous impression that the State tax headquarters will be moved Sunday from its present location to the Federal Reserve Bank.

The move will not be made until late in January and Collector White estimates it will take three days to transport the records and furniture and get settled in the new location on the fourth floor of the bank. An estimated rental saving of $12,000 will be one result of the move.

PRESS $1,000,000 CLAIMS AGAINST BOYD COMPANY

Claims totalling more than $1,000,000 were contained in a bankruptcy petition by three New York creditors in Federal Court today against the John S. Boyd Company, Inc., textile manufacturers of Williamstown. The claims are almost entirely promissory notes.

Judge Expels Man Who Neglects to Doff Hit Hat

A man entered the Second Session of the Superior Criminal Court today without removing his hat, and paid no attention to Deputy Sheriff William McDermott's command to comply with the usages of centuries.

Judge Fosdick looked up and remarked, "Never mind the hat, remove the man. It is much easier to remove the man than for him to remove his hat."

INHERITANCE TAX STAYS

Washington, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—The House today voted against repeal of the federal inheritance tax, rejecting 191 to 55 an amendment to eliminate the levy from the new tax bill.

Action came after two hours debate during which Chairman Green of the ways and means committee, charged that thousands of dollars had been expended by selfish interests to obtain repeal of the levy.

The chairman said $500 bills had been distributed freely by advocates of repeal and expenses had been paid for a number of witnesses appearing before the committee in opposition to the tax.

SIGHTED BURNS MAN AT AN OIL JUROR'S HOME

Washington, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—The government drove hard today to tie up Harry F. Sinclair, William J. Burns and four associates on trial for contempt for alleged "improper surveillance" over the Teapot Dome oil plot trial jury.

The chief attack turned on H. Mason Day and Sheldon H. Clark, alleged contact men between Sinclair and the Burns detectives.

Charles G. Ruddy, chief Burns operative, was recalled and testified, over vigorous defense objections, that reports on the shadowing of the jurors had been turned over to Clark. In his return to the contempt charge, Clark denied he ever handled the reports.

Testimony by Police Sergeant Frank M. Dent was objected to by defense counsel who were overruled by the court. Dent described encountering late at night Daniel E. Merritt, a Burns detective near the home of Edward Kidwell, Jr., the talkative juror. Merritt was assigned to shadow Kidwell.

BARES HER YOUNG LOVE

Mrs. Edith E. Hatch, wealthy widow, on the stand in East Cambridge Court, told of trips she had taken to New York with Crosby Hoyt, a score of years her junior. She wore a "slave bracelet." She also told of kissing Hoyt and said she loved him.

SIGNS AWAY HER DAUGHTER, 9, 'IN DARK'

"I love my daughter better than money and I did not realize until today that I had signed away all rights to her," said Mrs. Lucerne Bond of Norfolk Downs, French war bride of the late Harry E. Nolan of Hartford, Ct., at her home today.

Mrs. Bond was interviewed regarding the $25,000 settlement she made with her late husband's family, under which her daughter, Lucerne, 9, will receive $[illegible] left by her grandfather, John H. Nolan, wealthy insurance pioneer.

DISOWNS ATTORNEY.

The heir-token mother revealed that the settlement took place two months ago and declared she had never heard of Attorney Edward J. Myers of Hartford who announced the settlement, while claiming to appear for her.

By terms of the settlement, Mrs. Bond [illegible] all claim to her daughter, who was turned over to the [illegible] Mrs. Alice [illegible] Nolan Hunt of No. 45 West Fifty-fifth street, New York.

Mrs. Bond claimed the child, born in Paris, had been kidnaped from her when but fourteen months old and a world-wide search resulted in the little girl being found in Bavaria.

"I'LL WAIT FOR HER.

But Mrs. Bond [illegible] her husband and later brought suit against his family for possession of her daughter. The controversy ended when she signed away her rights for $25,000, having seen little Lucerne only twice since she was fourteen months old.

Now [illegible] "I suppose there is nothing to do but wait and pray that Lucerne will some day awaken of her own accord and come back to her mother. I love my child more than money, and for that reason I was willing to let her go. I am under the doctor's care as a result of the affair."

COLGATE GIVES UP HIS WIFE TO YOUNG POET

Morristown, N. J., Dec. 14 (A.P.)—A mutual enthusiasm for the poetry of Percy Bysshe Shelley has led the former wife of the secretary of the Colgate Company to give up a life of wealth and luxury that she may share the uncertain fortunes of a young free lance writer, says the writer's mother.

It was because "Shelley is Byron Dexter's God" and "he can quote him almost verbatim" that affection developed between Dexter and Mrs. Colgate and led to the securing of a divorce by Mrs. Colgate from Henry A. Colgate in Reno, Nev., said Mrs. James L. Dexter at her home here.

Mrs. Dexter said Mrs. Colgate intended to marry her son, whom she [illegible] as a literary genius without money or prospects.

When young Dexter was at Princeton, where he was graduated in 1923, he wrote a play which he called "Shelley." While the play was being rehearsed by the Morristown Carillon Players, Dexter met Mrs. Colgate at her home in New Vernon.

Herself an ardent admirer of Shelley, Mrs. Colgate threw open to Dexter her library and there he spent much of his time reading Shelley's poetry to his hostess, his mother said. At that time Dexter was [illegible] and Mrs. Colgate 27. Later, Mrs. Dexter said, Mrs. Colgate gave Byron a locket reputed to contain ashes of the poet.

At a conference in a European hotel recently between the Colgates and young Dexter, Mrs. Dexter said Colgate decided to give up his wife so that "she could be happy."

Colgate agreed to give his wife $[illegible] a year for the [illegible] and $[illegible] alimony.

"I think they are making a big mistake," the mother commented in speaking of her son's romance.

WHOLE TOWN WELCOMES BOY WHO KILLED FATHER

Olean, N. Y., Dec. 14 (I.N.S.)—[illegible] Tilton, thirteen, of Port Allegany, recently freed on a charge of killing his father, was welcomed home by almost the entire citizenry today. He said he fired the fatal shot only to frighten his father, who had threatened the entire family in a drunken frenzy.

GOODFELLOW CAN GIVE JOY TO THIS GIRL

It required exactly forty-one words for the little Winifred to tell the Goodfellow Editor today all the things that are on her heart.

In spite of its brevity there is something pathetic and appealing in the following note. Perhaps it's the childish handwriting. Perhaps it's the simple directness of thought. Here it is:

Dear Goodfellow Editor: I am a little girl of eleven years and I have a little sister seven years and another one ten months, and I hope you will not forget and if you do not come I will not have a good Christmas. Winifred.

The Goodfellow Editor devoutly hopes that Winifred will have a good Christmas.

Many of the letters which come piling in upon the Goodfellow Editor's desk with every mail, narrate intimate family business. Children of tender years confide a naive trust in Santa Claus and a close knowledge of their family's economic problems.

"My daddy makes only $18 a week," writes one little boy.

"My mother cries because they want to take away her furniture," says another.

PITIFUL DETAILS.

Pitiful details of the sad struggle of handicapped families which [illegible] in [illegible] these scrawled pages.

There is a 14-year-old high school boy who finds himself in the position of guardian of seven younger sisters and brothers.

Christmas is here and it really makes me feel sorry to hear the word for we are poor and can't afford to buy any Christmas toys or clothing.

You see, dear Editor, I have no mother. My mother died six years ago and I am the one who takes care of both the house and children. And really strive to keep the house clean and children clean for school and play. You see, I'm only a boy of 14 years of age and attending the High School of Commerce. If you will only send some toys and clothing I will gladly appreciate your kindness.

ASKS FOR OTHERS.

A 19-year-old girl writes a letter full of concern for the nine younger sisters and brothers in her family.

I am 19 years old and the oldest of a family of ten children. The youngest is six months old.

My father is a fruit handler but his work is not steady. He sometimes works only three days a week. My sister is went to the hospital with her appendix last week and will be home Saturday, but she will be unable to work for a couple of months.

I read of your Goodfellow Club every evening in the papers and I am asking you to please send the children something. Don't mind the toys. They need stockings and gloves more. If you are giving food we would be very glad to receive it. Please try and not forget us and we will all pray for the success of the Goodfellow Editor.

A Charlestown mother, sorely distressed, writes on behalf of her [illegible] children. The boys are 1, 14, [illegible] and 6. The girls are 8 and 4, and there is a baby two months old. The appeal is endorsed by the [illegible] teacher of one of the boys, who [illegible] that the family is very much in need of help.

STILL NEED FOR MORE.

Large hearted readers of the Boston Evening American are responding to Goodfellow appeals in a [illegible] manner. Many Goodfellows are taking on the responsibility of Christmas joy-spreading for [illegible] families. Others are sending in gifts of clothing or cash.

There is still an overwhelming demand for assistance. Hundreds of cases of tragic need cannot [illegible] considered until more Goodfellows [illegible] joined in the work.

You are invited to write to the Goodfellow Editor and ask to [illegible] a family assigned to you. [illegible] then personally study the [illegible] needs and supply what you [illegible] necessary, or you can [illegible] work of delivery of your [illegible] Goodfellow Editor. [illegible] to the Goodfellow Editor, Boston Evening American, Winthrop Square, Boston.

'DAWN' TO FLY TO ENGLAND

Curtiss Field, N. Y., Dec. 14 (A.P.)—Friends of Mrs. Francis Grayson said today she had abandoned her plan to attempt a transatlantic flight from Old Orchard, Me., to Denmark and was planning instead a Winter flight from Harbor Grace, N. F., to Croydon, England.

Mrs. Grayson, who will be accompanied by Oscar Omdahl of the Norwegian navy as pilot, and Brice Goldsborough as navigator, declined to discuss her plans.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

"Jack and the Beanstalk" to Be Given at the Repertory Theatre to Aid the Elizabeth Peabody House

THERE'S ALWAYS SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE PHILANTHROPIC sun! Even though it would seem that all the changes have been rung on benefits and such. And this season has provided some specially diverting occasions along the benefit line. Now comes Mrs. Bernard W. Trafford with an entertaining scheme whereby to do a good turn for the Elizabeth Peabody House, which holds first place on Mrs. Trafford's list of philanthropies and for which she works heart and soul.

IT'S A BENEFIT MOST ORIGINAL AND DELIGHTFUL WHICH she plans. It is during the Christmas holidays, and a matinee, to boot. Furthermore, the play to be presented is "Jack and the Beanstalk." These are the details—Mrs. Trafford has taken the Repertory Theatre, the entire orchestra and a part of the balcony, and will dispose of the tickets to her friends and well wishers. The remainder of the theatre will be taken by Campfire Girls, so thus, two most worthy organizations will get a plum out of the philanthropic pie.

"JACK AND THE BEANSTALK" WILL HAVE A SPLENDID cast. None other than Miss Katharine Chapman Warren will be the Jack and Miss Dana Sieveling will be the Little Miss Muffitt, who will sit "on a tuffet." All in accordance with the best nursery dictum. It's a show to delight the small fry, and there'll be many a laugh in it for the oldsters. It seems as though Mrs. Trafford had hit upon a most original scheme to do a good turn for her Peabody House in the pleasantest possible way.

THE BENEFIT, HOWEVER, DOES NOT COMMENCE WITH THE matinee. It has another interesting angle. There is a large luncheon beforehand, in Repertory Hall, and some hundreds of people who will see "Jack and the Beanstalk" plan commencing the afternoon at the luncheon. As a part of the benefit it serves a double purpose, as is readily to be seen. Not only is it a pleasant prelude, but it also means many more dollars in the Peabody House treasury, and that of course is exactly what Mrs. Trafford hopes for most devoutly.

LIFE FOR THE ROBERT SALTONSTALLS NEVER LACKS variety. They belong to that class of happy travelers which can pack its bags and flit away about the world, sometimes at a moment's notice. Just now the Saltonstalls are flipping the leaves of bright hued and alluringly worded travel folders. In fact their plans have reached the stage of reservation making and in the not far distant future they'll be off, over the rim of the world in search of new playgrounds and new sights to see. I hear that North Africa is on their itinerary.

LAST EVENING OUT IN WELLESLEY THERE WAS entertaining for Madame Jelli D'Arani, the Austrian songbird who has graced local stages recently. Much to the edification of a choice set of Wellesley people, Madame D'Arani sang in the famous college town last evening and later Professor and Mrs. Hamilton Crawford McDougall were her hosts for a reception. Entertaining for visiting notables goes on brilliantly—witness the affairs for the Willingdons, for Beverly Nichols, for Madame D'Arani and for Madame Cobina Wright.

CHRISTMAS GREENS THAT REALLY ARE GREENS, AND NOT merely tinsel and paint, may be had in all their spicy fragrance, fresh from the woods, at the sale at the Vendome tomorrow. The astute matrons of the upper circles, who each year put on this sale—it is for the Children's Island Sanatorium—find a lively market for their woodland spoils. Which, of course, delights them exceedingly since it means financial rewards for the Sanatorium. Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield is an ardent supporter of the charity, and so is Mrs. Bayard Warren and others of that ilk. Winter and Summer they serve its interests.

PRISCILLA POTTS

This future Smart Set leader, just now more concerned with play hours than social duties. Her scooter is properly equipped with all the latest devices.

VERY LOVELY WAS MADAME COBINA WRIGHT SINGING TO A MOST APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE last evening at the Republican Club. And very effective was the tapestried Moyenage background this very clever songbird has contrived for her concert appearances. Wearing a strikingly beautiful gown of rose, she delighted the eye quite as she did the ear. Candles gleamed in tall sconces, and every brilliant facet of the cut crystal chandeliers glinted, but none more brilliantly than the unusual and effective jewels Madame Wright added to make perfect her costume.

A LARGE AUDIENCE AND A MOST ATTENTIVE ONE EXPRESSED DELIGHT BOTH AT THE lovely songstress and her charming voice. The rare old tapestries came from an Austrian castle, and the jewels, enormous earrings and necklace, Madame Wright got during a Spanish journey. And the lovely gown of bright rose chiffon brocade came from the master hand of a modiste inspired to create something to beautifully blend with an Old World background. Smart people were in the audience. Mrs. James Jackson's black velvet gown and her pearls and diamonds were quite in the formal mode this distinctly handsome dowager effects so well.

MISS MILDRED BRADLEY, IN METAL BROCADE, WAS ONE OF THE FAVORED FEW TO GREET Madame Wright after her concert, and just before she dashed over to the Governor's Mansion to join the dinner group being entertained there and to sing for them. Mrs. Henry Dubois Tudor was at the concert, her wrap a beautifully effective thing in brocade done in rose garlands. Mrs. John E. Bolt, who came in with friends, was in black with touches of bright green. Miss Suzanne Dabney wore a brocade wrap with rich fox scarf, and her gown was of metal cloth. William May Wright, husband of the beautiful Madame Wright, arrived in town last evening just at the finish of the concert and in time to accompany her to the Executive Mansion, where His Excellency and Mrs. Fuller were staging one of the season's most noted affairs—a dinner for the Governor-General of Canada and the Viscountess Willingdon. For them Madame Wright sang again and, of course, most delightfully.

"Only a Sore Throat"

Don't ever underestimate the danger of a sore throat; if neglected, it may develop into something serious—as many know to their sorrow.

The same goes for a cold; pneumonia at this time of the year is your great enemy.

At the first sign of cold or throat irritation, use Listerine full strength as a gargle. Keep it up systematically.

Being antiseptic, it immediately attacks the countless disease-producing bacteria in mouth and throat, and halts many an ailment before it becomes dangerous.

During winter weather, when you are usually subjected to poor air and sharp changes in temperature, it's a good idea to use Listerine every day as mouth wash and gargle.

This pleasant and easy precaution may spare you a trying and painful siege of illness. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

By NICK FLATLEY

EAGLES PICKED RIGHT COACH IN HUGH DUFFY

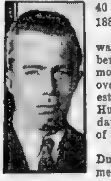
BOSTON COLLEGE made a popular and incidentally, a very smart move by picking Hughey Duffy to coach the baseball team. Jack Slattery's successor was one of the smartest players in the history of baseball. He has been in the game steadily for 40 years, ever since he broke in 'way back in 1887.



Nick Flatley

He knows the pastime inside out and backwards, and also knows how to hand around the benefits of his long experience, which is much more to the point. He is an ideal type to take over a good team that had not reached its highest development. A shrewd old director like Hughey can build splendidly on the fine foundation left at the Heights by the new manager of the Braves.

It is hardly fair, however, to call Coach Duffy old. In the matter of Winters and Summers he has tucked away more than the average share, but the passing years haven't removed a bit of his pep; nor have they marked him physically with any of the signs of age.

Duff doesn't look more than a few minutes over 40 years of age, and acts even younger. One could draw a fine moral from this because Hughey has been a clean living, outdoor type all through his long career. He still could go in and hit big league pitching as well as some of the present athletes. For all his years he hasn't let a season pass without getting in some baseball.

And he's a golf nut—plays every day in Summer when he can get to a links, and chases a red ball around the courses when the snows have buried the sods in the Winter. He was a big leaguer before any of the present heroes, with two or three exceptions, were born, but he still packs all the qualifications that should make him a real success in the exacting task of coaching a college team.

THE APPOINTMENT OF DUFFY CAUSED NO NOTICEABLE CHEERING IN WORCESTER.

DUFFY RESPONSIBLE FOR A. L. SUCCESS HERE

THE new Boston College coach, though it isn't generally known, is practically responsible for the success of the American League in Boston. He had been unconditionally released from the National League in 1900, and drifted into the new circuit that the young newspaper man, Ban Johnson, had formed in the West. He was with Milwaukee.

The league had declared war on the National, and decided to invade Boston. Grounds had been selected out along the Charles River in Cambridge. Duffy went to the new magnates and protested. He told them that playing that far from the city was quite likely to be suicidal.

He didn't have much trouble convincing them that a losing team would soon be called the Cambridge Blues or the Harvard Seconds, and go on the financial rocks. But he had constructive advice, too. He showed the boys that the vacant lot on Huntington avenue, which belonged to the "L," though it wasn't called that in those days, could be bought. He put the deal through himself, to all intents and purposes. Just helping his league.

Then he went a bit further. He signed up Freddie Parent, Hobe Ferris, Jimmy Collins and Buck Freeman for the new team. That was a team, with the four Duffy-signed athletes the bright particular stars through the early years of glory.

Duffy managed the White Sox in the young days of the A. L., and after that came to Boston as pilot, but he never landed when money was being sprinkled around generously. So he drifted into minor league managing, where he had plenty of success with his teams and developing youngsters for the big show.

The A. L. owes him plenty in the way of gratitude.

Duffy is one of the few big leaguers who hit .300 over ten consecutive years. He was never under the mark from '89 to '99.

HUGHEY'S MARK OF .438 NEVER EQUALLED

HUGHEY DUFFY hung up one mark that has never been touched in the long history of baseball. He batted for .438 in 1894, and even the advent of the rabbit ball couldn't furnish a slugger to get up to that. Tip O'Neil is on the books with an average of .489 somewhere in the 80s, but that was in the year where a base on balls was counted as a hit.

Duff played on four championship Boston teams, in '92, '93, '97 and '98. He was a remarkable outfielder as well as a great hitter. He teamed up with the famous Tommy McCarthy in the Boston outfield, and most students of the game admit that the pair made garden play a science.

They were called the Heavenly Twins, which popular book by Sarah Grand appeared when the two were at the height of their glory. They specialized in picking runners off the bases, introduced the habit of roaming around for various hitters, and had the league dizzy for years with their ability to catch slow thinking athletes with their historic "trapped" ball play.

The two would be $50,000 ball players in this day and generation, but they were present in an age of low salaries. Duffy held out, the Winter after he had smashed all batting averages. He was getting $1,800 a year and demanded $2,400. He was politely but firmly told to go chase himself. He waited until the next season had opened, and had to surrender.

Hughey knows all the angles of the game, is still as enthusiastic as any kid, and should go over big with his team at the Heights. He's an old-timer who deserves all the success there is.

GLENRIDGE GOLF CLUB GETS AMATEUR TOURNEY

New York, Dec. 14.—The New Jersey State amateur golf championship for 1928 was awarded to the Glenridge Country Club by the New Jersey Golf Association in session at the Yale Club. Stacey Bender was elected President of the association for the ensuing year and Fred Gennell, secretary-treasurer.

JERRY FORD TO LEAD B. U. FRESHMAN FIVE

Jerry Ford of Lynn, former Dean Academy basketball star, was elected captain of the Boston University freshman basketball team. He holds the right forward berth and is considered by Coach Win Karlson to be the best prospect for the varsity team next season. In the only game played to date, against Wentworth.

TERRIERS PLAY NORTHEASTERN TONIGHT

The first of the annual two game basketball series between Northeastern and Boston University takes place at the St. Botolph street gymnasium tonight. Boston University is undefeated and the visitors have not won a game to date. Considering the relative strength of the teams their percentages should be the same after the game.

Northeastern, still hunting for a Terrier scalp, seems destined to go down to defeat again as it has everytime both teams have met. There are three new men on the team and they have not been working together very successfully.

The lineup:

|---|---|
| Cohen, lf | rg, Placzek |
| Zanden, rf | lg, Hamilton |
| Cotter, c | c, Kebera |
| Bartlett, lg | rf, Symancyk |

LIMIT OARSMEN IN OLYMPICS

Philadelphia, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—American oarsmen will not be permitted to row in more than one event at the Olympic races in Holland next year.

The committee in charge of rowing, of which George G. Melloy of this city is a member, has so decided. The purpose of the rule is to make each oarsman and crew concentrate on one race.

The tryouts will be held on the Schuylkill River, here, next Spring. There will be no restrictions on the entries in the trials. If an oarsman or crew wins two races the second man or crew will be added to the Olympic squad.

HUB BOXERS TO SHOW IN GOTHAM TOURNEY

New York, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—Amateur boxers from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, New Haven and New York will participate in the five-cornered intercity tournament that starts here tonight. Eighteen contests are on the program, with three bouts in each class from flyweight to light-heavyweight.

'Gene to Fight in 'Chi' Next Summer'—Gibson

Chicago, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—"You can say for me that Gene Tunney will appear in Chicago at an outdoor show next Summer."

In those words, Billy Gibson, manager of the world's heavyweight champion, today answered a barrage of questions about Tunney's next defense of his title.

Gibson said he could not "call the fight" in so many words until after February, when a "lot of things Tex Rickard will have to do by then" are cleared up and out of the way.

Tunney himself had nothing to say, stating that he had come to Chicago to help the Christmas charity fund and not to discuss fighting.

Tunney in Speech Defends Officials in Dempsey Bout

After what seemed an interminable orgy of speechmaking at a charity ball here, where he was the guest of honor, Gene Tunney was finally given the floor. He began with the usual line about Chicago's greatness and the greatness of its citizens, and then launched into what the banqueters were yearning to hear—a little spicy fight gossip.

"I would like to say a few words for the ring officials who were responsible for the fight," said Tunney. "Those who question the officials needs must question the officials who appointed them.

"There wasn't the slightest deviation from the rules agreed upon in advance of the fight. If ever a contest was fought on its merits it was that of Sept. 22. The unfortunate conduct of certain individuals cannot but go down as most unsporting.

"Above all, I like good sportsmanship, especially in a loser. But since the fight!"

Tunney did not finish that sentence. He concluded:

"In closing, I want to publicly thank the officials responsible for the contest. Their vigilance probably, or I should say, possibly, eliminated dishonesty. They were honest, upright and honorable."

Dave Barry, the referee of the last Tunney-Dempsey fight, occupied a seat near the speakers' table.

Who Cares?

New York, Dec. 14 (I.N.S.).—Phil Scott, the British heavyweight champion, who was beaten by Knute Hansen and Johnny Risko, sails for England tonight. He will return immediately after the holidays, however, [illegible]

Amateur Boxers in Tourney Tonight

An amateur boxing card including at least thirty bouts, will be staged tonight at the Scenic Temple, Berkeley and Tremont streets, under the direction of the Mass. Auto Operators Association, and with the leaders of each division on hand it is expected that there will be plenty of action for the followers of the purses in this event.

This organization, of which Governor Fuller is a member, always manifesting keen interest in the work of the boxers, is eager to develop some local boys for the approaching Olympics and other important events, and with [illegible] five open classes tonight's [illegible] event is expected to prove the most successful in the history of the organization.

Jerome Moore, well known referee, is in charge of the tournament and has arranged bouts in five [illegible] classes including 112, 118, 126, 147 and 160 pounds.

INTERSTATE MATCH FOR WOMEN GOLFERS

The Connecticut State women's golf team will meet the Massachusetts team in the annual Interstate matches the second week of October.

Tentative dates for the open day tournaments and the awarding of the State championship to the Farmington Club for the first week in June included other business transacted by the committee.

The committee also decided to hold team matches on open days instead of playing a regular schedule, it was announced.

Open day tournaments will be played each month, starting in May, when two will be scheduled. Two tournaments will also be scheduled in June and September, while July, August and October will have [illegible]

N. Y. U. BOARD TO PAY MEEHAN $15,000

Joe Schwarzer, the "goat" of the stirring New York University football controversy, has resigned and all signs point to the return of John F. "Chick" Meehan as head coach in 1928. Although, for the time being, the most silent of secrecies is being maintained, it is quite probable that Meehan has already signed his contract for 1928.

Before sailing for Europe aboard the S. S. Berlin last Friday, Schwarzer removed the shroud of mystery that has been covering the conflict between Meehan and the N. Y. U. athletic directorate.

Schwarzer, the driving force behind the Violet team and one of the highest paid assistant coaches in the country, handed his resignation to Meehan Thursday and made the way clear for the return of the head coach without causing embarrassment [illegible].

The recent [illegible] meeting between Meehan and the board of athletic control, Schwarzer admitted to a friend, resulted in a complete rout of the head coach. When the time came for the conference last Wednesday Meehan had already weakened in his determination owing to various causes. He nevertheless presented his three demands, as follows:

1—A voice in the scheduling of games.

2—Better co-operation from the authorities and the right of consultation in matters pertaining to [illegible].

3—More money and the right to name his staff.

Meehan was voted down on issues one and two. He got more money for himself, but did not win a clean victory on issue three. The board denied him the right of choosing his assistant, a privilege which Meehan enjoyed under his first contract.

Meehan was then tendered a contract for $15,000. This is the one which in all probability will go into effect next year.

Nothing new can be learned from the Red Sox representatives, President Bob Quinn and Manager Carrigan. Both were present at the preliminary skirmish of the American League forces yesterday, but nothing in the way of trades was accomplished.

In fact they have been in New York since last Saturday, [illegible] states that there was [illegible] to the story that [illegible] Ruffing, the Fenway hurling ace, might be traded to the Yanks.

It appears now, however, as though that deal were off. That is, unless Miller Huggins is willing to give a lot more than he has offered to date for the Hub flinger.

New York, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—The Pittsburgh Pirates today announced the disposal of Emil Yde, southpaw pitcher, and Roy Spencer, catcher, to the Indianapolis club of the American Association for a "valuable consideration."

Traylor Nominated to Head Golf Asso.

New York, Dec. 14 (A.P.).—The nomination of Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago for the presidency of the United States Golf Association was announced today. As head of the ticket slated for election at the annual meeting here January 7, Mr. Traylor replaces Charles O. Pfeil who died recently at his home in Memphis.

HARVARD POLO TEAM TO PLAY SATURDAY

The line-up of the 1931 polo team for the first game of its indoor season with 101st Field Artillery Saturday night has just been announced. E. K. Jenkins will play No. 1, E. T. Gerry No. 2 and G. Q. Clark back. Substitutes likely to get into the play are R. C. Walker and P. S. Owen.

New B. C. Baseball Coach Has Veteran Infield Intact for the Next Season

By JOHN B. GILLOOLY

Hugh Duffy, B. C. baseball coach, is sitting pretty in his new berth at Boston College. The former Red Sox star, manager and scout, looks smilingly at the future, for he will be greeted by a veteran nine with three good pitchers to boot when he calls out his diamond candidates three months hence.

[illegible] for the future [illegible] Slattery [illegible] had the [illegible] for Fall [illegible] the first few weeks of this past grid season.

Duffy plans to let things take their natural course until it's time to bring out the bats and balls, the real harbinger of Spring. In the meantime he'll keep an eye on his athletes at Newton to see that they all meet scholastic requirements and keep in the best possible condition.

Duffy is also already interested [illegible] by Manager Dick [illegible] open their baseball campaign. Bigger and better baseball battles have been assured.

PASSING THE PUCK

By Bill Grimes

Any doubt as to the popularity of hockey was once again dispelled by the crowd which was attracted to the Boston Arena for the Bruins-Ranger game. In every sense of the word it was a sell-out. Long before darkness set in, the admission line was forming and by six o'clock, despite the rain, the boys were strung out down around the corner of Gainsborough Street.

There is no question but that the [illegible] accommodate the hockey [illegible] the Bruins up at the [illegible] the American Division. The [illegible] mad and the same [illegible] would exist if the seating capacity was double its present size.

TUNNEY COINS NEW WORD FOR CRITICS

Chicago, Dec. 14 (A.P.)—Inspired by the presence of Gene Tunney, 3,000 Chicagoans joined in a Christmas fund banquet last night, which turned out to be one of the most remarkable social affairs in the history of Chicago.

The Tunney admirers not only raised more than $30,000 through the banquet, to provide Christmas baskets for Chicago's poor, but [illegible] shower of $100, $500 and $1[illegible] at the Christmas fund [illegible] for blocks of seats at a [illegible] boxing program next March. # HARVARD GOES WEST IN TRACK

Indoor Battle With Michigan Slated at Ann Arbor, Mich., on March 17

On the heels of the recent formation of athletic relations between Harvard and the University of Michigan in football and baseball, there comes from Cambridge the announcement that the Harvard athletic committee has approved an indoor track meet between Harvard and Michigan.

The meet will take place at Ann Arbor, Mich., March 17, and it will constitute one of the longest journeys ever taken by a Harvard track team.

As a result of the indoor track meet scheduled between Harvard and Michigan, the two colleges, Harvard, one of the foremost colleges of the East, and Michigan, one of the great athletic [illegible] of the West, are now scheduled to meet in the three major sports which both colleges have in common.

Football, baseball and track are the only sports which both colleges regard as major sports. Michigan has neither hockey nor crew, which are major sports at Harvard, and basketball, a major sport at Michigan, does not command similar recognition at Harvard.

As a result of this newly scheduled meet, the Harvard indoor track season will be stretched out two weeks later than has been customary in the past.

The season heretofore has ended with the indoor [illegible] at New York on the first Saturday evening in March.

As a result of the new meet with Michigan, the Harvard team will have to devote two more weeks to Winter track and will have another "climax" to their season.

NORWICH TEAM MAY PRACTICE AT ARENA

Northfield, Vt., Dec. 14—Eleven Norwich hockey players have left here to meet Brown in Providence Thursday in their opening game of the season. The horsemen have had only two practice sessions in preparation for this match. If possible they plan to have a workout in Boston today.

Warm weather that has prevailed later than usual this year delayed the start of Norwich hockey until last Saturday, when the Cadets found a few patches of ice around the countryside on which to practice.

Although he has had little opportunity to get a line on his skaters, Coach Dewey Graham before starting on the trip to Brown announced that he would probably start Wan[illegible] and Johnson as wings, Sherman at centre, Ellis and Youngerman as defense men and Fullerton as goalie.

The Cadets will miss the services of last year's regular centre, Bevo Beveridge, who has left college.

EVERETT HIGH TO REMAIN IN SUBURBAN

The [illegible] managers and coaches of the Suburban Football and Baseball League will attend a banquet at the University Club, starting at 6 o'clock tomorrow night. [illegible] tions for the 1928 season will be made after the dinner.

Reports that Everett High School is likely to withdraw from the organization are given little consideration.

Headmaster Wilbur J. Rockwood of Everett High is a charter member of the Suburban League. Back when Malden High withdrew and [illegible] years later when Medford High [illegible] also efforts were made to have Everett High School withdraw.

It will be recalled that an effort was made to drop Brookline, Cambridge High and Latin and Rindge Technical School from the league, because Malden and Medford realized that those schools did not draw satisfactory gates on their home games.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"I HAVE a little news scoop for you boys," opened Mr. Boston as he took possession of the soap box in the Sport Department today. "I was just talking with Tex Rickard over the long distance telephone from New York and he told me Jack Dempsey is of the opinion Jack Sharkey will beat Tom Heeney in New York on January 13 and that the Boston contender will then trounce Gene Tunney when they battle for the world's championship.

"[illegible] opened up and gave me his opinion of Sharkey the night before he left for Los Angeles to spend the [illegible] days with his family,' said Tex. '[illegible] Sharkey [illegible] to Jack Heeney. He believes Sharkey is too fast and hits too hard for the New Zealand heavyweight.

"'I then asked Dempsey what he thought of Sharkey's chances against Tunney.' He said:

"'Sharkey will beat Tunney when they meet. And I'll tell you why. Tunney holds his right hand away back and in line with his hip. He can score with this blow when pitted against me, as I'm not quite as fast as I used to be. But he'll never hit the bobbing, weaving Sharkey with such a punch. Meanwhile Sharkey is liable to ruin him with left hooks to the head.

"'Tunney may bring his right up as a defensive weapon after Sharkey pops him with a few solid left hooks. He won't be able to punch effectively with his right held high. Sharkey gave me more punishment in the first two rounds of our fight than I received from Tunney. He had me almost out in the first round. If he had been in Tunney's place at Philadelphia when I wasn't in condition to fight, Jack would have stopped me.'

"RICKARD is still hopeful that Dempsey will fight again, although the old champion has said he has had enough of the ring. Dempsey has saved a million dollars out of the boxing racket and can sit back and watch the parade go by.

"Dempsey won't announce his final decision until the Spring. Rickard, very naturally, will use all of his persuasive efforts in an attempt to get Dempsey to stage another comeback. The Tiger has drawn $10,000,000 for [illegible] at the gate. There never was another box office attraction like the old champion. You can hardly blame Rickard for failing to ob[illegible] when Dempsey says he's all through, that he does not want to be punched goofy and that he figures he has earned a rest away from the pugilistic wars.

"TUNNEY, despite all the stories of the long count at Chicago, is eager for Dempsey to fight again. The former marine would like to get a crack at Jack over the 15-round route in New York. Tunney contends that Dempsey couldn't have gone two more rounds at either Philadelphia or at Chicago.

"In this opinion I believe Gene is correct. Dempsey was all punched out in both of these contests and only his stout heart enabled him to stagger through to the final gong.

"Tunney has proved he has Dempsey's number. He knows just how to fight the old champion. Dempsey's legs are all gone and other than for a chance blow he cannot hope to dethrone the former marine. Dempsey knows this better than anybody else, which is probably one of the reasons why he has decided to hang up his gloves for all time.

"I believe that in a 15-round tussle Tunney would be a cinch to stop Dempsey. He would wear the Tiger down in the early rounds and finish him somewhere between the eighth and thirteenth frame. Dempsey, like the champions who have gone before him, cannot beat nature. It exacts its toll, especially in the ring where the pace is always hard and furious.

"WILLIAM MULDOON, veteran member of the New York Boxing Commission, who picked Tunney to win both of his bouts from Dempsey and who named Sharkey to conquer Wills, refuses to enthuse about another Tunney-Dempsey match.

"'If Tunney and Dempsey were to meet in New York, I wouldn't leave my home to see the contest,' said Muldoon, 'but I'd journey all the way to Los Angeles to see Sharkey fight Tunney. That would be a real battle.'

"I talked on the telephone with Sharkey who is preparing for the holidays with Mrs. Sharkey and their youngsters out in Chestnut Hill. Jack told me he has started training for Heeney. His training for this week will consist of road work. Next week he will breeze in at Kelley & Hayes' swat parlors in Bowdoin square for gym exercises.

"Sharkey will not do any boxing with his sparring partners until the latter part of the month as he wants to give his left hand, which he injured a month ago, plenty of opportunity to knit together properly. He'll have 12 days for some brisk boxing which is all that he has required for any of his ring tests.

"A victory over Heeney means Golden Opportunity for the Boston heavyweight contender."

Inside Golf

By Chester Horton

Why is it the left-hander in athletics [illegible] golf—so wild? In baseball—of course, the [illegible] side wheelers [illegible] certainly are not [illegible] for their control. There have been great left-handed pitchers, it is true, whereas there never has been a really outstanding [illegible] side hitter [illegible] golfer. "Rube" Waddell, the famous southpaw flinger, was so good, in fact, on his good days that he gave the batsmen headaches just to stand up there and face the breezes his fast ones stirred up as they zipped across the biscuit. But all his days were not so good. Came other days when the park owners looked in panic to the netting back of the batsmen, lest one of the "Rube's" wild ones kill a customer or two. Golf makes the naturally right-handed man plenty wild, but for the naturally left-handed it's too much. Just to look at a port-side niblick pusher in action creates a feeling of uneasiness. It kindles the primal urge to seek safety in flight. The left-handed golfer will make greater progress by starting off right-handed and sticking to it till the battle is won.

Recipes That Employ Healthful Apple

By MARTHA LEE

HOW are you feeling these days? A hundred per cent. plus—or zero? Why not attain better health via nature's healthful apple?

Apples are really a food, tonic, condiment and cosmetic all in one. They supply us with protein and sugar calories, valuable vitamines, tonic minerals (especially iron) and their bulky cellulose stimulates and lubricates the digestive tract.

Dutch Apple Cake—Three or four apples (tart), one-half cup sugar, brown or white, one to two teaspoons cinnamon, two cups flour, four tablespoons sugar, four teaspoons baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon salt, four tablespoons fat, one egg milk, one beaten egg if desired.

Sift the dry ingredients together. Cut in the fat until the mixture is granular, similar to cornmeal. Add the beaten egg to the milk and lightly stir this into the dry ingredients. Spread thin in a greased pan and let stand while the apples are being prepared.

Pare, core, and cut the apples in wedge shapes about one-eighth to one-half inch thick on the outer edge. Arrange the apple slices on the dough in rectangular or parallel rows, pushing the thin edge of each a little into the dough and letting each slice overlap the other. Mix the sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over the apples. Place in a 375 degree F. oven, covering with an inverted pan for the first ten minutes so that the apples will cook more quickly. Uncover and bake until the cake has been in the oven from twenty to twenty-five minutes.

Apple Fritters—One and one-half to one and three-quarters cups flour, one-quarter cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one tablespoon butter, melted, one egg, beaten, two or three sour apples.

Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Combine the liquids and mix these lightly into the dry ingredients. Chop the cored unpeeled apples fine, or cut into rings one-quarter inch thick. Add the chopped apple to the batter or dip the rings until well coated with batter. Drop these or spoonfuls of the fritter batter into deep hot fat to brown.

Baked Apples—Six sour apples, one cup sugar, white or brown, as desired, one-half cup water, one or two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon nutmeg or one-third teaspoon cinnamon.

Peel the apples one-third the way down and place in a buttered baking dish that has a tight cover. Dissolve the sugar in water, with the discarded peelings, by stirring over a low flame and pour over the apples. Sprinkle with seasonings and butter.

Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) from twenty to thirty minutes, basting occasionally. The time depends upon the variety of apple. Remove the cover from the apples, put a teaspoon of sugar in each cavity, and sprinkle sugar over all. Place under a hot flame, basting several times until the apples are glazed. Serve with whipped cream.

MARTHA LEE

Why the Cream?

What better way to start your dinner than with a steaming plate of Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup?

Not a "thickened" soup, this, but a thick, real cream soup made with rich, pure cream and luscious vine-ripened tomatoes grown from pedigreed seed under Heinz supervision.

So smooth, so delicious, so full of flavor! In all the world no soup like this. The taste is the test.

The Story of the Stars

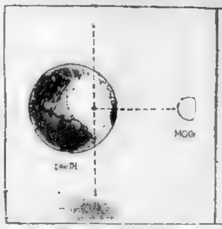
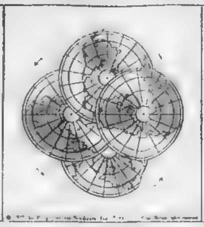
Interesting Facts About the Moon

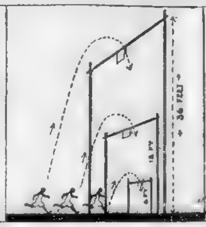
By Garrett P. Serviss



The moon moves the earth just as the earth moves the moon. But the earth weighs 81 times as much as the moon so that the common centre of gravity is more than 1000 miles below the earth's surface at the point where the dotted lines meet.



Seen from space the earth would appear to be swung around steadily by the moon. It would change position as indicated in the diagram above, once a month. The pivot would be more than third of the way from the surface to the centre.



The pull of gravity on the moon is only one-sixth as great as it is on the earth. An athlete who could clear a six-foot bar on the earth could clear an eighteen-foot bar on Mars, and soar easily over a thirty-six-foot bar on the moon.

Because the moon has no atmosphere, its sky is jet black, and the stars must be visible in full sunlight. The earth appears in the black sky like a giant moon, fourteen times as large as the moon looks to us.

To Make One Ring Movie Out of 4

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Los Angeles, Dec. 14.

JACK DEMPSEY cares to star in four pictures, all he has to do is put his signature on a contract and Tiffany-Stahl will do the rest.

The offer given Mr. Dempsey is interesting in that he can make his films any time and anywhere he chooses. He can also approve or disapprove the stories. What more could anyone ask?

I am told only one of the stories will deal with the squared ring. The other three are to be straight dramas, with Jack as the hero.

No agreement has yet been reached, but negotiations are on and it seems likely Mr. Dempsey will spend his time for the next few months in the studio, instead of doing road work and other strenuous exercise.

While Mr. Dempsey is facing the camera, the indications are that his wife, Estelle Taylor, will be doing the same, but at another studio. She has finished "The Whip Woman," now being titled by Edwin Justus Mayer—and at the moment she is considering two other offers.

Seeing Lila Lee in a trim tailored suit and looking not a day over eighteen, I wondered why some of these producers on the lookout for youth and talent didn't sign her.

One of them did. Lila is now at the California studio, where she is appearing in "You Can't Beat the Law." Arthur Hoerl is mentioned as the author and Charles Hunt as the director. Cornelius Keefe, who in his quiet way has landed more leading man jobs in the shortest time than any actor in captivity, plays the lead opposite Miss Lee.

With Colonel Lindbergh flying to Mexico and Will Rogers, the flying ace of the movies, in the same country, what would be more natural than to have Mayor Rogers return to the U. S. A. with the Colonel?

Sam Rork isn't so fussy now about Rogers's flying, because the new picture won't start until March, and when Rogers isn't actually in production he feels his escapades in the air are his own business.

While both Mr. Rork and his star are trying to make up their minds on a story there is some idea that "The Houseboat on the Styx," John Kendrick Bangs's celebrated novel, may be the next Rogers Rork comedy.

It will be the first of the year before Marion Davies returns to Hollywood. In other words, she writes she will spend Christmas in New York, returning home shortly after the first of the year. It seems reasonably certain "Her Cardboard Lover" will be her next picture.

Are already HARD, and their HEARTS are full of worldly
Wants. And some women are
FLAPPERS at sixty.
Their HEARTS are still full of childish PLEASURES.
And their minds are rather
EMPTY. And BOTH
These types are INTERESTING
To themselves. It seems
The principal DIFFERENCE
Between the AUTHENTIC and the Idea of TIME.

The old-young flapper thinks
There is PLENTY of time.
Consequently she WASTES
A good deal of it.
The YOUNG-old flapper
Thinks there is NO TIME to
Lose, and little to SPARE.
So she SPENDS her time.
And how?
WHO can tell? And who Wants to KNOW, anyway?
Sixty dressed as sixteen
FOOLS itself. For, after all,

What small boy wants a
Repainted old toy,
Or who wants a
Box with a bow on it
If the candy is stale?

The Story of a Clever Boston Girl and Her Temperamental Sister

CHAPTER XXVI.

LATE that afternoon, when long, blue-gray shadows lay across Aunt Emily's lawn, a big brown car drove in between the gate-posts and came to a stop before the steps at the house.

"Why—it's John Nye!" Sally cried, her wistful eyes on the tall, dark, good-looking man who swung himself out of it. Something in her voice made Aunt Emily give her a sharp, quick look before she trotted briskly away to welcome him.

"So it is," drawled Millie, pulling herself up from the basket chair where she had been taking a quiet cat nap. "He said last night he might drive out to get me today—"

"He can take us ALL home and we won't have to ride in the crowded bus and street car!" Mrs. Jerome broke in eagerly. Before Millie could stop her she was halfway across the lawn, calling out to him.

"Oh, Mr. Nye, how nice of you—I'll go right in and get my hat and be ready in a minute." She went up the steps with a swiftness that she had not shown in years.

Mabel burst into a laugh. "Well, look at the old girl go, will you!" she giggled. "She sure can show some speed when she wants to, can't she?" Mabel probably never had read the Ten Commandments, and knew nothing about honoring her mother and father—or her mother-in-law or anyone else, for that matter. She had no respect for anyone, really. She laughed again, and Beau laughed with her.

Millie gave them a blighting look. "How can you laugh about a thing like that?" she asked bitterly. "I think it's terrible—wishing herself on him for a ride home! When she knows perfectly well that he came out for me and for nobody else!—I could just shake her!"

Mabel, still giggling, turned to Beau. "Well, as long as your mother's going to drive in with Mr. Nye, you and I may as well go along, too," she said to him. "Come on, darling."

They jumped up from the grass where they had been sitting, holding hands. They were still in that blissful honeymoon state where they were not happy unless they were making love to each other.

Millie groaned, watching them cross the lawn with their arms linked lovingly. They got into John Nye's car as if they owned it.

"Isn't it the pink limit? Wishing themselves off on him?" she appealed [illegible] to Sally, as she shook out her rumpled [illegible] dress and fluffed up her tousled yellow hair. "Well, come along, we may as well start."

But Sally shook her head and did not stir from her cushion on the grass.

"No, thanks, Millie. I'm going to stay and have supper with Aunt Em," she said quietly and firmly. Not for worlds would she have driven off in John Nye's car behind him and Millie. Not for anything.

She stayed where she was, holding up a magazine in front of her as if she were reading. She did not lower it until she heard Aunt Emily calling "Good-bye" to everyone and then the low murmur of the brown car as it started away.

"Was I very rude?" she asked when Aunt Emily, trim and severe in gray linen, came back across the smooth grass to her. "And do you mind if I stay for supper? I invited myself." She put down the magazine.

Aunt Emily did not seem to have heard her questions. She stood squarely in front of her, with her piercing eyes on Sally's big blue ones.

'You Like That Man of Millie's, Don't You?' She Asked Sally

"Sally," she said finally. "You like that man of Millie's don't you?"

The question came so unexpectedly that Sally answered it almost without thinking. She answered it with a short little nod of her head and a "Yes" that was more like a quick sigh than a word.

And then she found herself telling her aunt all about it. Aunt Emily, for all her snap and matter of factness, was the kind of person to whom other people go with their troubles and confessions.

Confession is good for the soul, and it has a way of taking a load off the heart, too. And Sally felt a certain relief when she had told Aunt Emily the whole story.

"It's silly to say I'm in love with him," she wound up, looking dreamily across the garden at the autumn roses, dimly pink in the dusk, "but I think I am—without really knowing him, Aunt Emily. I saw him one day in the elevator in our building, and the next minute I was so in love with him that I couldn't take my eyes from him."

Aunt Emily smiled. Her smile was a mere quiver of her straight mouth.

"I wouldn't give much for that sort of love," she said. "That isn't the real kind. You've got to know a person to really know that you love him, my dear child."

Sally's face brightened a little. "I hope that's true," she declared. "I hope this is just a passing fancy—I wish I didn't think about John Nye all the time. It bothers me, and I'd like to get over it."

"You probably will. Love's like the mumps. It hurts while it lasts, but it doesn't last forever."

Aunt Emily began to pick up the cushions from the grass and set the basket chairs up against the old willow tree.

"Let's go in and get something to eat, and then I'll walk down to the bus with you," she said. "Let's see, there's cold chicken and tongue and some tomatoes."

There were a good many other things on the table in the cool, peaceful dining room—peaches and cold biscuits, and two kinds of cake.

But Sally ate almost nothing. Aunt Sally noticed that while she chattered about the changes she was going to make in the house as soon as she started serving chicken dinners to the public.

"I'm going to have the dining room and the parlor thrown into one room," she explained, looking through the doorway at the big shadowy room beyond the dining room.

It was the loveliest room Sally had ever seen. A room of faded flowery chintzes, dim old family portraits in gilt frames, and blue Bristol glass vases filled with Aunt Emily's tall roses.

All her life it had been a pleasure to Sally to think that she belonged to a family who had owned a room like that. It was the kind of room that fine, gentle people had lived in. People of good taste. People who had had a love for beautiful, simple things just as Sally herself loved them.

"I hate to think of your spoiling the house that way," she told Aunt Emily later when they were waiting in the darkness for a bus.

Her aunt grunted. "The world 'do move,' my dear, and I'm going to keep moving with it!" she replied. "And I'm sick and tired of staying in my school teaching rut any longer. If this new thing means giving up part of my house, I don't care! I wish you'd come into it with me."

Sally Shook Her Head. 'I Can't Just Now,' She Said

Sally shook her head. "I can't," she said decidedly. "Not just now. We've a load of debts that have got to be paid off, and Fall's coming on and we've all got to have new coats and things. No, I can't quit my job right now. It's a sure thing, and doesn't take all of my time."

Aunt Emily was silent for a minute. Then she said "Hmm!" She said it scornfully.

"I know people will pay $2 for the kind of a meal I'm going to serve!" she went on. "I'll bet you anything that inside of a year, Sally Jerome, I'll own an automobile and have a fine, fat bank account, besides! I'm going to make money in this wayside inn business—and if you have any brains you'd better come in with me!" She was stubborn, was Aunt Emily, and she hated to take "No" for an answer when "Yes" was what she wanted.

But "No" was what Sally said once more. She said it regretfully for, like her aunt, she had a love of adventure. The thing untried was the thing that lured her always.

"I can't," she said. "If I had a hundred dollars ahead, I would. But I haven't got it."

For an instant she thought of the $100 that Millie had coaxed from her mother for new clothes.

"I might ask for that," she said to herself, but she knew it would be useless. Millie never gave up anything she wanted, once she got her soft, grasping hands upon it.

"All right. Give up everything for your family if you want to!" snapped Aunt Emily. "Now that Beau's married, there's no reason why your mother and Millie couldn't live on what they have for a while. Your mother gets her checks every now and then. She kept you all on them when you were little children."

"Yes, but she's turning them all over to Beau and Millie now!" Sally wanted to say, but she did not. She looked at her glass with downcast eyes and said nothing at all. No use to rattle the family skeletons before Aunt Emily.

"I carried all my family's burdens when I was your age," snapped Aunt Emily. "And look at me now—an old maid with barely enough to get along on! And I've made plenty of money in my day, Sally. I gave most of it away—to my family. They all had it from me—and not one of them ever paid me back or said 'Thanks,' either!"

Sally raised her eyes then and looked at her.

"I expect to be an old maid myself, Aunt Em," she said. "And I expect to be a poor old maid—and I'm not worrying over it. Somebody's got to look after mother and I'm glad I'm the one to do it. And somebody's got to look after Millie until she's married."

"It looks to me as if she were going to marry this Nye," observed the older woman. "And if she does, I certainly am going to be sorry for him."

Tomorrow—Beau and Mabel put it over on Ma and Millie gets mad.

"The Love Seat"

DRAWN BY Nell Brinkley

TAKE the calm, contented room to parallel a peaceful, happy life.

A girl, curious about Romance, all agog at the love-story on the screen and in the scarlet-backed book, it is true—but unacquainted with either and taken with giggles and a carnation blush that is half amusement when their names are mentioned in relation with hers. The golden glow of a Chinese-bowl lamp. And a LOVE-SEAT. She sits in an old love-seat—so called because it was once just wide enough for a gallant in satin and lace and, powdered hair to sit in beside the lady of his dreams AND her billowy flower-petal skirts. Just too wide for just a man and girl. But just right for a man and a maid—and a dress!

A happy girl's life [illegible] by love's pain and bliss. A quiet, lovely room unstirred by ghosts. Up to now. And an antique love-seat!

And [illegible] no matter how long you've thought about him HE always [illegible] her book clatters to the floor; frame! in the [illegible] looks in. Radiant against the night—winged, wild-eyed, luring and frightening, beautiful, a faint gleam of gold-dust in his hair, a look of another world. Love himself, EROS, has found her.

A happy girl—happy no longer—and oh, paradox! happier than ever, too. A quiet room, quiet no longer—[illegible] rustling with the lilac and citron taffetas of a lovely ghost in her ancient corner of the Love-seat.

And LOVE—EROS, the [illegible]; look at him. He is the very same! The lovely ghost of the love-seat looks at him with pleasure—for he is the identical, [illegible] in another window at her [illegible] ago.—NELL BRINKLEY.

'Constant Flame'; Emily Senses Defeat

room and the supper table by a wide arch and he sat down, pleasantly enough, calling to Day to finish his supper.

Day grunted and tried to go on, but Emily saw [illegible] over his face. She was fine, [illegible] confusion all at once. The red checked table cloth, the bowl of potatoes in their jackets—why did Steve always eat with his knife? Stabbing at a chop, scooping things—she never had noticed it before.

Kent's father . . . At his home things would be different. Light gleaming down, white linen, soft-footed servants. This was all so cheap . . .

Her father got up, finally, wiping his mouth with the back of his [illegible]. Agnes followed into the living room. He grumbled, "Yes, sir?" and Agnes flushed. One antagonistic, the other servile—why couldn't they be just themselves? Because this was Rossiter . . . Emily followed them in a passion of protest.

Rather like Kent he was, tall and fine looking, with a ready smile. Now he began in a friendly way.

"Little trouble at the works today?"

"It's that darn' white-collar lad won't do nothin' he's told. Ain't no trouble with me. I says to him, 'Load them crates' an' he says—"

"But loading is your job, Steve. The crates should have gone this morning. [illegible] a delay of two days."

Steve shuffled his feet and scowled at the floor; Agnes pressed her hands together [illegible] shaking [illegible] through the window [illegible] at [illegible] down [illegible]

That youngster isn't a bad young fellow, Steve. Taking care of his mother and sending his sister to school. Try and give him a hand, will you? It's the older men [illegible] you ones who've been with us a long time we depend on. Let me count on you, won't you?"

"Like Kent," Emily thought. "Clever and kind—oh, he's fine. He didn't have to do this; come here to ask father not to be so disagreeable. Some would have discharged him, taken his living away because he acted so. He won't let himself like the Rossiters; he doesn't want to like them—"

Now Kent's father turned to her smiling, and mentioned his own daughter. "You're younger than Avis? But of course; I remember your dad coming in to say he had a little girl. You'll soon get through school? And what will you be then?"

A teacher [illegible]

It was the first Emily had thought of that. She looked up with a tingle of excitement. "A teacher? [illegible]

He [illegible] at her [illegible] yet she saw he was quite serious. "Of course you could teach. I've heard what a good student you are. Certainly you could teach Latin. Indeed I've heard about your aunt. Blood will tell, my dear."

There it was again, she thought. Always something blood would help you do or stop you from doing. Why?

Must one surely be as others had been, those who had gone before and left an assortment of likes and dislikes, ambitions, hopes, failures to run through the body and make or mar one's life?

Was blood a despot always to command, never to be gainsaid?

It ran in one man's veins, and he was Mister Rossiter and controlled other men. And in another's veins it wasn't blue at all, just a life stream which kept him going along, able to earn his way, never firing him with the urge to climb the heights. And that one was Steve Day, factory hand.

Emily felt a vague resentment; a sense of defeat. What use ambition if this must be so? Held by blood as by an unbreakable chain one would be always the prisoner of heritage.

When she had spoken of her aunt, Kent's father remarked "blood will tell." Here was something; perhaps a thin line of blue coursing her pulses. Aunt Mary had the will to move up and on; somewhere back in the long ago there must have been an ancestor with vision and courage. Had something of those been passed down to her?

A drop of blue blood . . . She [illegible] at it long [illegible]

Fads and Fashions

Badger Becomes Badge of Smartness, for this soft, flattering fur strikes one of the most recent fashion notes in the trimming of the daytime coat of black cloth. Its light natural colorings offset the somber black wraps that are worn by so many smartly dressed women.

Even for Evening black suede and antelope bags are quite the fad, being considered more select than the metal ones. With jeweled mountings and clasps, these purses are seen in various shapes, pouch types being among the most highly favored.

Mating Purse and Necklace is the latest rage. Black velvet or antelope envelope purses have a metallic border of a slender gold vine which is matched in the leaf-like garland that forms a choker. Bracelets and earrings to match are often used to complete the ensemble.

Putting Teeth on Edge is exactly what the stylists are doing with many of the latest silk frocks. The tooth effect, pointed at the edges, is latest note in hemlines.

Landscapes on lapels are an innovation which offers a respite from the ever-present flower. Little metal plaques, three inches by two inches, cunningly depict rural scenes and are fastened by means of a tiny set of loops on the back. Many of the quaint little ornaments are being used on hats in place of pins, and on handbags to replace the overworked monograms.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the valuable properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real healing power as there is in this home-made syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and it is splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

In the next issue Mr. Whitehead will explain the salient points in the bidding and play of the above hand. Fill out your own chart and compare it with his method.

These hands must be bid or played "Double Dummy," i.e., as though all four hands were exposed.

Salient Points of the Bidding

North, holding a Trump hand, except for Spades, doubles West's Spade bid and gives one assist to his partner's Diam response but can go no further since South passed originally and may have bid Diamonds without four worth while cards of the suit and a trickless hand. West should have rebid his hand to four Spades if necessary.

Salient Points of the Play

Tricks 1 and 2. North opens with the Heart King and switches to his partner's Diamond suit upon seeing Dummy's hand.

Trick 3. Declarer leads a Heart from Dummy, intending if possible to establish the suit or the discard of his Queen of Clubs, apparently the only loser outside of Hearts in the combined hand.

Trick 5. Declarer trumps high, taking no chances, though practically certain that North has another Heart. North following with a Heart, two good Hearts are established in Dummy.

Trick 6. Declarer discards his losing Club and his remaining cards are good.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your Bridge problems. Write to him care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope.

MISTER FRISBY'S FINANCIAL ADVICE

One of the many underwear ads Mr. Frisby is trying have stricken from the mail order catalogs.

BY MR. FRISBY

(The Man With the Human Brain)

AS I sit here, thumbling my notes, I find a piece of paper which will doubtless mean millions to widows and orphans.

It is just scribbling to the human eye—yet back of these jumbled words is one of my Big Ideas which I mean to give to humanity.

All I ask is some token of appreciation—perhaps a $10 bill—from every man, woman and child in America. Then I shall proceed.

Briefly, my plan is this:

I hope to organize a corporation to manufacture and install a sprinkling system that will distribute laughing gas in our theatres.

This simple device will be insurance for management, audience and actors against dull evenings in the theater.

If you don't get the idea by now, you never will.

There has been so much controversy over who actually won the Notre Dame-U. S. C. football game that Mr. Harry Brand makes the following suggestion:—

1. Let the spectators ballot on all close decisions.
2. Pass ballots every time whistle blows. Then take time out while the Electoral College professors make a count.
3. In case of a tie, let those who listen to game over radio cast deciding votes.

(Editor's Note—We welcome big, constructive ideas like the above. Mr. Brand is trying to make this world a better place in which to live.)

Adam Scofflaw's Journal

This evening journied with my hen partridge to the University Club, where heard the Abbe Ernest Dimnet (cried up as a French scholar) make a sermon on "The Art of Thinking." And he tell how, whilst asleep, the so-called brain doth labour, and will, perchance, think greate thoughts, gone forever at morn lest penciled, which please my dame mightily, she making chin musique all the way home on how, whilst asleep, she doth think greate thoughts. So I did place foolscap paper nigh her bed stand, but in the morning finde the sheet of paper is blanc, which cause the wench to blush mightilie.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for bulding up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

MEDBURY SAYS---

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

A LARGE insurance company is now issuing policies to newly married husbands. It protects them against their bride's cooking.

EVERY member is entitled to free dyspepsia tablets for a year.

NOT only that, but they give you all the bicarbonate of soda you can drink.

OF course brides don't have to be domestic nowadays. That's why we have delicatessens.

THE average couple can live on love for a few weeks, but you can't feed it to the company.

IT'S hard to eat kisses with a knife and fork.

A MAN doesn't mind sipping honey from his wife's lips for a while, but he soon starts looking for another apiary.

AND if his secretary is pretty, he'll probably begin eating between meals.

YOUR bride's osculations may be delicious, but any husband gets tired of the same restaurant.

WHY should he feast American plan when he can dine a la carte?

A NEW YORK girl has had five husbands. She lost one by an accident and four through indigestion.

SHE never had any luck at cooking. No matter how long she boiled an egg, it wouldn't get soft.

HER cakes were harder than the first of the month.

SHE made biscuits that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce wouldn't throw at Florida.

SHE used to bake pies for our soldiers until the Department of Justice found out why we were losing the war.

THERE'S only one thing worse than a woman who can cook and won't, and that's a woman who can't cook and does.

Three Minute Trips

By TEMPLE MANNING.

BECAUSE of religious superstitions, the people of India marry ridiculously early. "Paternity or hell!" is a proverb the natives are taught, and they believe that if they are unfortunate enough not to possess a son their soul will transmigrate after death into the body of a snail, a rat or a kindered animal, and for thousands of years must slowly climb the scale of creation before it again reaches the human.

Another proverb states that "the mother, father and oldest brother of a girl shall all be dammed if they allow her to reach maturity without being married." As a consequence, children are bethrothed at infancy, often, indeed, before birth, and it is no uncommon thing for the marriage, itself, to occur when the girl is seven or eight years old.

Although the wife is such a child, the husband is often sixty or seventy years old, and, since religion prohibits the remarriage of women, the number of child-widows is appalling, presenting an ever-increasing economic problem.

Religion also controls the status of the woman. According to ancient Hindu writings of sacred origin, the woman is man's inferior in every way, and as such she is often a mere drudge in the household, often working harder and longer than her lowest servant.

Marriage, being such an important event in the Hindu life, is celebrated with much feasting and a tremendous outlay of money. Indeed, families often cripple themselves financially in order to make the proper display. Often, a marriage feast will last for days, and dancers, jugglers and other entertainers are employed at tremendous expense to entertain the guests.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

SOME lipsticked lips are so livid, they look just like a "Park your kisses here," sign.

* * *

Giving a man a pair of slippers for Christmas may mean that he will "walk away"; but don't fancy that giving him a pair of cuff-links signifies that he will "stay put."

* * *

The test of a husband's devotion, these days, is his ability to look upon a can-opener as an ideal cooking utensil.

The first time a girl marries, it is usually because she needs love; the second time, because she needs companionship; the third time, because she needs an alienist.

No, Marjorie, a man is not really in love until the sound of the orchestra playing a sentimental air interferes with his appetite.

* * *

Men are never satisfied with women. The man of tomorrow will probably be sighing for the "sweet old-fashioned mid-Georgian flapper" who wore her skirts way down to her knees, and never permitted a man to kiss her until after the third dance.

* * *

When a woman shows the first flicker of jealousy, she is boring the man, flattering the other woman, and insulting herself.

* * *

We can get along without almost anything in this world except appreciation, love and understanding, but life without these, however brilliant, is like playing to an empty house.

Gentlemen prefer blondes, but women are supposed to take what they can get.

Your Boy

Don't Let Him Grow Used to Laxatives!

The complete comfort so many adults derive from calcium should turn a parent's thought to its perfect properties for children. A mother who thinks twice—or thinks at all—will not use harsher means of regulating a growing boy or girl

For the same reason your bowels are benefited by calcium wafers, they are the very thing for a youngster. A tiny wafer or two at first sign of sluggishness—will end it. If the condition has been chronic, this mild corrective will tend to break it up. Calcium wafers will wean a child away from all need for any laxative.

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium, and the decided benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them—the test size for pocket is 10c. Or the family size, 60c.

Legal Notices 147

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS Office of the Secretary. Whereas notice has been received at this office from the Police Commissioner for the City of Boston that certain persons have been convicted of being present where implements of gaming were found on the premises of the Business Men's Athletic Association, a club chartered November 22, 1915, under the provisions of Chapter 125 of the Revised Laws and now located at 113 State street, Boston, Mass. Now, therefore by authority of section 27 of chapter 180 of the General Laws, as amended by chapter 108 of the Acts of 1926, I declare the charter of said club to be void, and give notice that said incorporation is void and of no further effect. F. W. COOK, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

rest of the evening developing new business for the bank. And they are up in the morning doing the same thing before the bank opens."

Employes, be it remembered, get 45 per cent. of Bank of Italy profits. They work for their own pockets.

This State, of which the native Indians were the laziest humans on Earth, now has, in spite of its mild climate, a most marvelously energetic race of white men.

What applies to Los Angeles and the rest of California, applies to this whole western country. Everybody is in a hurry, and actually working, not going through the motions.

W. H. Byrnes, president of the San Francisco Union Stockyards, wants the world to know, as it should, that he paid $5 a pound, liveweight, for the grand champion Southdown Lamb.

Henry Ford's man telephones an invitation to ride in the new Ford car to Ford's gigantic new plant near Los Angeles.

Mr. Vandeventer of the Oakland Times and Charles P. Howard of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce send word that you must be here January 5 and see the future greatest city in California.

R. A. Grady, says the Kiwanis Club of Duluth insists on your going there.

John F. Humburg wants you in San Francisco to inspect that city's new fifteen hundred-acre playground, on the peninsula, for Eastern tourists.

Bryan Akers, publisher of the Arizona Gazette, says you have got to visit Arizona's Salt River Valley, to see what has been done in "cotton, citrus, dairying and Winter vegetables." Chambers of Commerce of every county in the State join in that hospitable invitation.

Miss Grace M. Sparkes, secretary of the Yavapai County Chamber of Commerce, says that's the place in Arizona that you must see. O. J. Faulkner, president of the Prescott (Ariz.) Kiwanis Club, and the Rotary Club of Prescott, wants you to see their "mile-high city, pine-clad hills, new Hassayampi Hotel." Dan J. Seaman, publisher of the Prescott Monday Morning Star, wants to explain to you on the spot, in Arizona, the Colorado River problem. This Western country is energetic and hospitable.

And it hopes and believes that it is going to solve the rubber problem, including the problem of labor. Fred McCarter, secretary of the Chamber of Comtary of Salinas, north of here, tells you over long distance telephone how it will be done. The guayule shrub, pronounced "wyule," requires no irrigation, moisture once a year is enough. The shrub grows four years, is then harvested, ground up, the rubber floats, wood goes to the bottom. The shrub yields 1,000 pounds of rubber to the acre.

The company guarantees the farmer $25 to $40 a year per acre. Plants are being tested in every county. One 2,000-acre patch will be planted this month. No tapping trees or gathering sap. All machine and harvester work. A crop every four years. There are seven guayule factories in Mexico now, the plants are gathered wild and hauled to factories on donkeys' backs.

FUR SALE AT NORTHERN LOAN CO.
Authorized and bonded by City of Boston.
$25, $35, $45, UP

We are challenging any one, large or small, to give you better retail value in brand new 1928 styles in ladies' fur coats than we are giving. We have on hand at present hundreds of the most fashionable garments you can think of. The very same kind you see displayed in the finest fur stores in the country. The same you are paying hundreds elsewhere for. Our coats are for young, middle aged and elderly women. In the selection are high-grade Caraculs, all shades, fox trimmed. Ponys, all shades. The latest Northern Seals, Baltic Seals, natural or beige, Squirrel, plain or trimmed (dyed Coney), Muskrats, Raccoons, Beaver (dyed Coney), fox trimmed or plain. Ponies, all shades, fox trimmed. Opossums and Leopards, red fox trimmed to match. To describe them all would be impossible. Our prices upset every standard of value past or present. Here are the real facts. We specialize in loaning money to furriers and the general public during their dull season for a limited time. If not redeemed, in order to dispose of them, the law compels us to advertise them locally and sell them to the public regardless of their original cost or value. Come down and see them for yourself. No obligation whatsoever. A small deposit will hold any coat you may select.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON:
1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parking problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land; in order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND:
1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.
3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water power and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

The Case of Mr. Margolis

Why All the Hemming and Hawing?

Why should the Governor of the Commonwealth have to intervene in the case of Nathan Margolis, good citizen of Boston, whose license to operate a motor vehicle has been revoked because while the gentleman's car was theoretically in the hands of a police officer it killed a man?

The facts are well-known.

The Margolis car, on November 13th last, was commandeered on Dorchester Avenue by a police officer, zealous in the pursuit of a supposed criminal.

Margolis drove at a terrific rate of speed. A trolley car came to a stop ahead of him, letting off some passengers, taking on others. The automobile got out of hand. Timothy J. Scannell, young South Boston man, was the victim.

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles revoked the Margolis license because it was his DUTY to do so.

The Department of Public Works has AFFIRMED that decision, being "unable to find that Margolis was not driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public."

All well and good, but suppose Mr. Margolis had REFUSED to assist the Fields Corner police officer?

In that event, he would have run afoul of ANOTHER law, might have been sent to jail for one month or fined Fifty Dollars.

It seems to the Boston Evening American to be distinctly and decidedly UP TO THE CITY OF BOSTON to do something for the relief of Nathan Margolis and do it without further delay.

His car is a wreck, he has been put to considerable expense, he has suffered in mind and in body. HOW is he to be recompensed, so far as he can be recompensed? Section 100 of Chapter 41 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, as amended by Chapter 157 of the Acts and Resolves of the present year, appears to provide the way, in the following language:

> ". . . a city, town, fire or water district may indemnify a police officer—a person required to assist a police officer in the discharge of his duties, to an amount not more than the amount RECOMMENDED BY THE BOARD OR OFFICERS AUTHORIZED TO APPOINT POLICE OFFICERS—for expenses or damages sustained by him while acting as a police officer—or as such assistant, or incurred by him in the defense or settlement of an action brought against him for acts done by him while so acting."

Nathan Margolis was an innocent victim of circumstances over which he had no contral. The city is morally bound to reimburse him. Not only that, but the city should see that the mother of Timothy Scannell is adequately compensated.

Every good citizen will be glad to see technicalities waived in this case and the Margolis and Scannell claims disposed of speedily in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

In particular, the Police Department should be GLAD to act and act AT ONCE.

How Rapidly We Move!

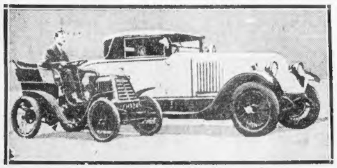
Automobile Progress in Thirty Years



TWO FRENCH CARS; 29 YEARS SEPARATES THEM

Man understands perfectly well whatever he can SEE, soon takes it for granted, almost imagines that he INVENTED it. But the average mind cannot imagine or believe in anything that it CANNOT see—outside of the teachings of religion absorbed in childhood when the mind is easily impressed.

For instance, when the first automobiles appeared ninety-nine per cent. of human fools laughed and shouted, "Get a horse!" They said, "That contraption will make an amusing toy for rich men, but if you want to GET THERE and GET BACK, you will have to DEPEND on the good old horse."

Not many rely on the good old horse now, especially if they want to cover five hundred miles in a day. The good old horse would be dead after the first ten minutes. No horse that ever lived could go for ten minutes at a speed that an average second-class automobile will keep up all day long.

How rapidly man has progressed, especially in a mechanical way, is shown in this picture. The little car is one of the six first cars made by the French Renault Company in 1898. The big car is the latest Renault model.

This picture ought to encourage you as regards flying. Those that have imagination will realize that the flying machine of thirty years hence will be as far ahead of today's flying machine as the big car is ahead of the little car on the left in this picture.

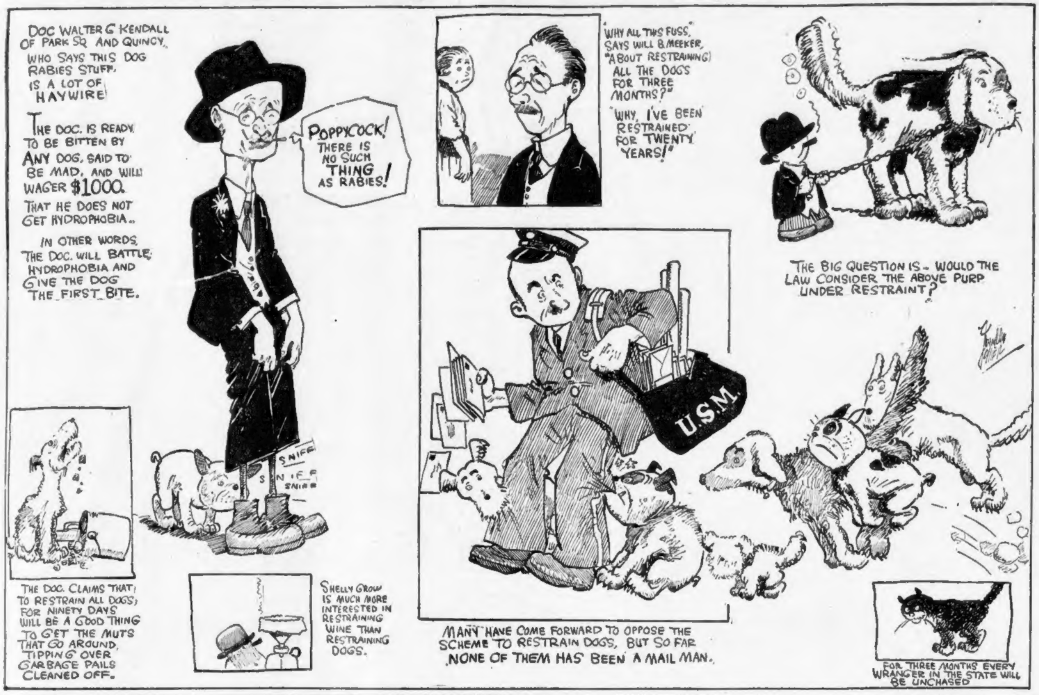
There is no trouble with our powers of mechanical invention. We shall have no trouble flying across oceans or around the world.

The sad thing is that we cannot develop our minds as rapidly as we develop our machinery.

It has been said, and truly, that the average of intelligence in the British Parliament today is not as great as was the average of intelligence among the people of Athens more than two thousand years ago.

The world moves forward, mentally and morally, at a painfully slow pace. But even so, it DOES move.

Time to Tie Up the Pup -:- -:- By Franklin Collier



DOC WALTER G KENDALL OF PARK SQ AND QUINCY, WHO SAYS THIS DOG RABIES STUFF IS A LOT OF HAYWIRE
THE DOC. IS READY TO BE BITTEN BY ANY DOG, SAID TO BE MAD, AND WILL WAGER $1000. THAT HE DOES NOT GET HYDROPHOBIA..
IN OTHER WORDS THE DOC. WILL BATTLE HYDROPHOBIA AND GIVE THE DOG THE FIRST BITE.
POPPYCOCK! THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS RABIES!
SNIFF SNIFF SNIFF
"WHY ALL THIS FUSS," SAYS WILL B. MEEKER, "ABOUT RESTRAINING ALL THE DOGS FOR THREE MONTHS?"
"WHY, I'VE BEEN RESTRAINED FOR TWENTY YEARS!"
THE BIG QUESTION IS - WOULD THE LAW CONSIDER THE ABOVE PURP UNDER RESTRAINT?
U.S.M.
THE DOC. CLAIMS THAT TO RESTRAIN ALL DOGS FOR NINETY DAYS WILL BE A GOOD THING TO GET THE MUTS THAT GO AROUND TIPPING OVER GARBAGE PAILS CLEANED OFF.
SHELLY GROW IS MUCH MORE INTERESTED IN RESTRAINING WINE THAN RESTRAINING DOGS.
MANY HAVE COME FORWARD TO OPPOSE THE SCHEME TO RESTRAIN DOGS, BUT SO FAR NONE OF THEM HAS BEEN A MAIL MAN.
FOR THREE MONTHS EVERY WRANGER IN THE STATE WILL BE UNCHASED

ALL CANNOT EXCEL IN EVERYTHING

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE is something in human nature that just naturally takes to a contest, any kind of a contest.

I recently saw a movie in which two men raced beetles to see which one could go the fastest. Mark Twain's story of the Jumping Frog is well-known.

This disposition sometimes leads us into the most absurd competitions.

Not only are there beauty contests, but there are coffee drinking competitions, flagpole sitters, and recently at the County Fair in Suffolk, Virginia, prizes were given for wives that could call their husbands in the most endearing tone.

Prizes are offered in schools and the best scholar or the most diligent student receives a reward. And there have been prize poems, prizes for the best orators and so on.

There continue to be aspirants for the glory that is to be reaped from flying across the Atlantic.

It is doubtful whether any really good work is done for the motive of getting a prize, although prizes continue to be offered for everything.

The best worker is one who is interested in his work and does the best he can. He does not desire to excel someone else, but is interested in excellency alone for its own sake.

We have never heard of Shakespeare, Dante, Goethe or Homer competing for a prize, and we have never read a prize poem that amounted to very much.

Even when the prize of great fame and glory comes to one who has done something remarkable, as in the case of Lindbergh, the hero does not seem to appreciate the prize so much as he is gratified at performing his feat well.

We cannot all excel in everything, as no two trees in the forest can be the highest. The principal thing is to do well that which lies within our power and to do it as well as it can be done.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THIS sapphire is a rare and lovely gem,
A thing a princess might be proud to own,
And set within a shining diadem
To lend its lustre to her royal throne.

This pearl is gleaming with the moon's own light,
This diamond sparkling as the sun's bright ray;
The one could bring new beauty to the night,
The other add fresh radiance to the day.

And yet the eye that looks beyond the glow
And gleam of beauty, howsoever fair,
That seeks some deeper loveliness below
The surface, finds new wonders there!

For pearl and sapphire were but sand and clay,
The diamond was but dust once, long ago;
Who knows what splendors may evolve some day
From this dull self that mocks our longings so?

Boston DAY by DAY

ABOUT four months ago work was started on installation of two new elevators in Boston City Hall. John P. Englert, superintendent of public buildings, decided that the old hydraulic pair were too slow and out of date. So a new electric machine has been operating for about a month, with a second expected to go into use about January 1. Members of the various boards are expected to arrive a bit sooner now.

Lieutenant Harold B. Williams is in charge of the fifty traffic officers recently added to the State Police. He keeps a statistical record of every detail pertaining to these accidents. Before the end of the year Williams will start on an analyzation of the causes, as shown by the reports, of the various accidents which dot the State roads.

Roscoe C. Hill is an agent in the State Department of Identification of Criminals. Mr. Hill's work consists of being a finger print expert in a room full of 200 cases of various finger print records. Recently an old offender was brought to Mr. Hill. Instead of being a candidate for a State prison, however, he wanted identification so he could cash a check for $25.

Other uses of finger printing extend to the soldiers, sailors, civil service, automobile field, insurance, banking. Mr. Hill believes the field will rapidly become so extended it will no longer be confused solely with criminal detection and identification.

Not all our naval men are so prone to speeches, as witness the commandant of the Boston Navy Yard. It was not known until recently that Rear Admiral Philip Andrews showed himself a successful diplomat during the armistice period of the World War. William Madox in his book "Diplomats of the Quarterdeck," tells how Admiral Andrews was in charge of the American Naval forces in the Adriatic at that time. In his vicinity were some Italians and Jugo-Slavs who were not exactly on speaking terms. By tact and courage, the Boston Admiral managed to make both sides see that peace was the best course, especially so at a time when a little trouble might have undone the whole peace negotiations.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SUPPOSE you had to be re-elected every five years in order to stay married? Suppose, instead of acquiring a life deed to your spouse with the minister's blessing, you had to court your wife or win you husband all over again every six months? Would it make a difference in your marriage manners?

That's exactly what would happen if Judge Burnell's plan went into effect. According to him marriage should be—

"1—Contracted for a period of five years only.

"2—Renewable by mutual consent only, for a second similar period.

"3—Terminated by the THE DESIRE OF ONE PARTY OR BOTH.

"4—Terminated by divorce upon two grounds only—adultery and extreme cruelty.

"In case children were born to the union or property was amassed over which disputes arose, the principals would be subject to court decisions similar to the present alimony and custody hearings."

Consider the couples you know—how would such a law affect them?

There's grouchy Dan Weaver. Remember the Big Show Dan put on when he was courting his Eva? Remember how he used to bring her candy and flowers every Saturday and take her on picnics Sunday? Dan brought his first plus fours for those picnics. Never had cared much for clothes before, but Eva was such a dainty little thing that Dan became a regular bird of paradise in those anxious months when he was waiting for her "yes."

And his manners improved as much as his clothes. The boys down at the office hardly knew him. Cheerful, obliging—everyone wished that Dan's courting might go on forever. But it didn't. They were married—five years ago today. And now look at them.

Dan's still slouching around in the same old suit that he wore on his honeymoon, and his manners are as full of wrinkles as his suit. Same old grouch that he used to pack before he was married. Snaps at Eva, growls and peeves around the house. Yes, I suppose he loves her but it would take a psychoanalyst to discover it. As for the flowers and candy and Sunday picnics—they stopped the week they were married.

Suppose Eva could say to Dan—"Well, your five years are up today and as a husband you've proved a wash-out. There's the door. Maybe you'll be elected on another party ticket but never again on mine."

Suppose Eva could say that, would it make Dan change his tactics? WOULD IT?

And there's Marion—Marion who was such a Beautiful Doll before she was married. Remember how everyone raved over her in her wedding dress? Have you seen her lately? Slopping around the house in a dirty bungalow apron—sprawled out on the chaise longue all day while the baby squalls and the dishes wait unwashed. Dinner never on time—house never tidy—and if Jim kicks there's a tantrum. Suppose Marion had to make good on her job or lose it after five years—what then?

YOUR TERM'S UP, USELESS, THERE'S THE DOOR!
Elsie Robinson

Ever wonder why some mistresses are so much more beloved than some Married Wives? Ever stop to speculate that it MIGHT be because they have to work harder to hold their jobs? Think it over.
